Charges WPA 'Front Organization' for 'Reds'

PROBER TERMS RELIEF AGENCY 'DANGER SPOT'

A. F. of L. Official Declares Communists Caused Most of 'Sit-Down' Strikes.

RUSSIA SPENDING HERE

Capital Hears Moscow Sends $5,000,000 Yearly in Move to Sovietize U. S.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The WPA is a "front organization" for the Communist party, a member of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities charged today.

The committeeman, Rep Thomas (R., N. J.), characterized the New Deal relief agency, headed by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, as a "very dangerous organization."

Rep. Thomas' statement came as John P. Frey, high official and spokesman for the American Federation of Labor, started his third day's testimony before the committee.

Blamed for Strikes.

Frey offered in evidence purported secret Stalinist documents to show that communists were chiefly responsible for the great "sit-down" strike which paralyzed the automobile industry.

As Frey took the stand, International News Service was informed that charges of lavish spending by Russia to Sovietize the United States, would be submitted to the committee. More than $5,000,000 a year in communist money has been poured into this country, these charges are expected to show.

Sketching communist activities in the United Automobile Workers Union briefly, Frey said that President Homer Martin of the union will later testify before the committee in detail.

Reds In Leading Role.

He put in the record a newspaper dispatch quoting a communist international as saying that communists played leading roles in the strike.

Before the auto workers convention in Milwaukee last year, Frey said, a "faction meeting" of communists was held in Eagles hall in that city.

He named Wyndham Mortimer, recently expelled as vice president of the UAWA, as one of those present. Members of the communist national committee were present he said.

Three New Roosevelt Targets

Ellison D. Smith
. . . South Carolina senator.

Millard E. Tydings
. . . Maryland senator.

John J. O'Connor
. . . New York congressman.

Here are three more men on President Roosevelt's New Deal purge list. Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith, South Carolina senator, was attacked by the president in a southern speech, and John J. O'Connor, New York congressman, and chairman of the powerful house rules committee, was scored a few days later. Last night, in his social security address, the president praised and endorsed by inference Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland, who is campaigning for the senate and attempting to unseat Senator Millard Tydings, also in the bad graces of the New Deal.

TYPHOID CASES

Four Ill in County, Health Commissioner Reports.

With four cases of typhoid fever reported in Richland county, Dr. Roy C Rehder, city-county health commissioner today warned vacationers against the dangers of the disease.

"August is the typhoid month," Dr. Rehder said. "Vacationers often drink water from unprotected sources as well as unpasteurized milk which may give them typhoid."

Of the four cases reported here, three in the last week, two were located in the city, and one is in Madison township. The fourth is a Cleveland man taken ill here. All have been isolated, Dr. Rehder said, two in their homes and the other two at General hospital. Two of the victims are middle-aged and two are youths of 14 and 15.

LEWIS 'BLESSED' BY ROOSEVELT

Pat for Maryland Lawmaker Seen as Move to Help Beat Senator Tydings.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Presidential praise of Rep. David J. Lewis (D-Md.) as a social security pioneer received general interpretation today as a boost for his campaign to unseat Sen. Millard Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to Lewis last night at the end of a radio speech advocating extension of the social security act, which the 69-year-old legislator helped draft.

"I thank publicly, as I have so often thanked them privately," the president said, "four men who have had long and distinguished careers in the public service. . . .

Although actual contracts in the first six months of this year were slightly below the same period of 1937, contemplated construction aggregated $3,750,000,000 July 1 compared with $2,440,000,000 on July 1, 1937.

APPROVAL OF BOND ELECTION REQUEST SEEN

School Board Sends Financial Data to State; Decision Expected Tomorrow.

NEW CAMPAIGN MAPPED

Board Develops Plans for New Attempt to Win Approval of $550,000 Issue.

Approval of the Mansfield board of education's request for a special election Sept. 20 on its proposed $550,000 school bond issue was expected today or Wednesday from the state tax commission.

A request for permission to hold the special election was submitted to the tax commission yesterday by H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education. The bond issue was defeated by a small margin at the primary election a week ago.

Approval Indicated.

On his return to Mansfield last night, Arlin said attaches of the tax commission office indicated the board's request would be considered when the commission meets today or tomorrow, and was given to understand the board's request would be granted.

Meanwhile, information pertaining to the Mansfield school's financial condition, the amount of the outstanding indebtedness and the rate at which bonds have been retired in recent years was forwarded to the tax commission by the board.

Arlin was told in Columbus yesterday that the data would be required before the tax commission could act on the board's request.

Optimistic On Chances.

Optimistic about their chances for obtaining the necessary 65 per cent vote if the bond issue is presented again, board members at a meeting last night mapped plans for a new drive on behalf of the bond issue and proposed building program.

ARMY SWELLS

Reich Troops in War Games on Belgian Frontiers.

BERLIN — (U.P.)—The armies of the reich swelled swiftly to wartime strength today in the greatest summer maneuvers in the history of peacetime Germany.

Gray-clad helmeted troops marched along "invisible roads" along the Belgian frontiers. Anti-aircraft batteries fired along the Rhineland facing France. Normal civilian life was obscured by the discipline which is imposed when a nation is at war.

Government spokesmen depreciated descriptions of a test mobilization. But more than 1,000,000 men were being brought into the field and there was evidence that the highly mobile forces of the reich were on the march to demonstrate speed.

SHOWERS DUE TO BRING RELIEF

But Meanwhile Mercury Climbs Toward 90-Mark Again.

Another forecast of showers, bringing relief from intense heat, came from the weather bureau at Columbus today, as the mercury headed for the 90's again.

From 86 at noon yesterday, temperatures went to 90, and the reading at noon today was the same as yesterday.

A marked drop in temperatures last night made sleeping not too comfortable. The average in Mansfield for 24 hours was 77.5 while Youngstown had an average of 83.6, a record.

Both the accused men face prosecution under the Lindbergh kidnaping law, which provides for the death penalty, because they crossed state lines.

Sales Crusade Gets Results, Two More 'Specials' Listed

Inspired by the fact that the two special days last week in the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade increased sales from 15 to 25 per cent, both merchants and sales people are mapping out their campaigns for the two "specials" this week — Ladies' Apparel day tomorrow, and Farm Supply day Saturday.

The first event will include everything that comes under the general heading of women's and girls' apparel, including accessories. Unusual values are to be offered in both new fall merchandise and summer stock.

Saturday there will be bargains and special values in everything that is used on the farm and in farm homes, from milk pails to farm machinery.

Last Saturday Mansfield furniture dealers had business increases over the same day last year that ranged from 15 to 25 per cent. One merchant reported the biggest Saturday business since early in May. An interesting highlight was that of a young couple who had planned to live with their parents for a year or so, but, influenced by the "Sales Mean Jobs" philosophy, bought furniture for an apartment.

With more than 500 "Sales Mean Jobs" crusades in progress in the country, Mansfield has contributed one new angle of attack, according to the State Council of Retail Merchants, which had a representative here yesterday checking results. It was the employing of college men to carry the purpose of the crusade to housewives.

2 Jailed in Kidnaping of Girl, Escort

Federal Agents Wound One Suspect as He Resists Arrest.

(By Associated Press)

ST. PAUL—The federal bureau of investigation today announced arrests of Otis Jones Meredith and John Couch near Effie, Minn., for the kidnaping of Miss Peggy Gross and Daniel Cox Fahey, jr., of St. Louis.

The two were located last night by special agents of the FBI at the farm home of Charles Roots, nine miles east of Effie.

They were identified as the kidnapers, Robert Hendon, chief of the St. Paul office of the FBI, said, from photographs. Identification was made by Miss Gross and Fahey.

Meredith was wounded in a gun fight, it was learned from federal officers.

Effie is in Itasco county, about 45 miles north of Grand Rapids.

Meredith is in a hospital at Grand Rapids It was not known how badly he was hurt.

Meredith, Hendon said, was wounded when he resisted arrest. He was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital, where he is under heavy guard.

Couch is held in the Grand Rapids jail.

Both Admit Kidnaping.

Both men readily admitted kidnaping Miss Gross and Fahey, Hendon said. He also asserted they admitted a number of other crimes in the midwest and southwest, including a recent gunfight with Texas officers between Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas.

Roots, at whose home the men were captured, is the father-in-law of Meredith. Officers emphasized, however, that he was not involved in any way with the abduction.

Miss Gross, 23-year-old St. Louis socialite, and Fahey, architect at St. Louis for the national park service, were kidnaped early Saturday as they sat in a parked car at St. Louis. They were driven in Fahey's car to a point near Champlin, Minn., and their hands and feet bound with wire and their mouths gagged with handkerchiefs, were tossed into some woods.

A passerby discovered and released them about 10:30 p. m., Saturday, not long after they were left 100 feet off the road.

GIRLS ADMIT 50 ROBBERY CASES

School Children Wanted Money to to Spend at Park, They Say.

AKRON — (U.P.) — Two Akron grade school girls and a 15-year-old companion were arrested by Akron detectives today and readily confessed to robbing 50 homes so as to "get money to go to an amusement park."

The older girl would knock at the front door of a victim's house and if the housewife answered she would ask:

"Do you have any old magazines or papers you could give me?"

She would then keep up a conversation while the two younger girls, each 13, would gain entrance at the rear of the house and ransack the premises.

10 CHOSEN TO TRY ACCUSED 'GANG FIXER'

Tammany Leader Set for Last Ditch Battle Against Racket Buster Dewey.

HINES HELPS ATTORNEY

Defendant, Accused in Policy, Game Scheme, Keenly Eyes Prospective Jurors.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The jury at the James J. Hines trial rapidly neared completion today when four more tentative jurors were chosen, making a total of ten seated in the jury box.

Court was resumed at 9:30 a. m. and there was every indication there was going to be a great battle—this courtroom drama of "Dewey Versus Hines."

Everything pointed that way as the tedious task of selecting a jury was resumed. The defendant, Hines, by his demeanor and that of his chief counsel, Lloyd P. Stryker, indicated they are determined to battle America's No. 1 "racket buster," District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, every inch of the way.

Powerful Adversary.

Not a whit less pugnacious was Dewey, who never has handled defendants with kid gloves. Dewey has been in such fights before but he never has had an adversary of the type of Hines, the powerful political leader, who in recent years has had more "say so" than any man in Tammany Hall.

Six jurors had been picked when Judge Ferdinand Pecora re-convened court this morning, and there was every indication that a jury of 12, and two alternates, would be chosen some time today.

Immediately afterward, Dewey will launch into his opening statement dealing with what the prosecution contends it can prove against Hines.

Dewey charges Hines with having been mixed up in the policy racket run by the late "Dutch" Schultz, a gangster who was "rubbed out" by underworld enemies. Dewey accuses Hines of "intimidating, influencing and bribing" city officials—of having been the arch "fixer" for the Schultz syndicate which, according to one

CANCEL TRIP

Trustees Learn State Relief Official's on Vacation.

Madison township trustees and county commissioners yesterday postponed their trip to Columbus to see what could be done about borrowing funds to finance the township relief load when it was learned that state officials they wanted to see were on vacation.

Meanwhile County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott said that he would go to Columbus sometime this week to investigate two borrowing plans, enacted recently by the legislature, to help distressed sub-divisions finance their relief burdens.

One plan calls for the issuance of notes against 70 per cent of anticipated collection of delinquent taxes and the other allows for the issuance of notes against 90 per cent of anticipated state taxes through 1941.

Marriott said County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe had opposed the first plan because of the uncertainty of collections.

Probe Death of Dodge, Drowned in Bay After Blast

BOATMEN HUNT BODY OF AUTO FORTUNE HEIR

Youth Leaped From Boat After Dynamite Explosion Injured Four, Young Bride Says.

BULLETIN

DETROIT — (INS) — The 21-year-old Gore Bay, Ont., telephone girl who married young motor millions heir Daniel G. Dodge two weeks ago is a beneficiary in the only will young Dodge left, it was learned today.

(By United Press)

MINDEMOYA, Ont.—Provincial authorities investigated today the death of Daniel G. Dodge, 21, heir to a $9,000,000 automobile fortune, who fell from a motorboat and was lost in Georgian bay while he, his bride of two weeks and two employes at his summer estate were speeding to a hospital here. All had been badly injured in a dynamite explosion.

Twenty men in boats were grappling for the body, but it was in 90 feet of water and the search was believed hopeless.

The burned and bleeding survivors said Dodge stepped over the side of the boat while blinded and hysterical with pain. The dynamite had exploded in his hands, they said, when he picked it up from the floor of the garage at the Dodge family's summer home, 20 miles west of the settlement of Little Current. His left arm and leg were shattered and part of his face was blown away.

Inspect Garage.

Authorities went to view the garage to decide whether the dynamite had been planted. The survivors said that there were two explosions, the first one having set off another stick of dynamite that lay on a windsow sill.

Those who reached shore in the boat were Mrs. Dodge, 18, the former Annie Laurine MacDonald who was a telephone operator at Gore Bay, Ont., before her marriage to the automobile heir two weeks ago; Frank Vulliquette, a caretaker, and Lester Bryant, another employe at the estate, Maple Point. The newlyweds were spending their honeymoon at the estate and the employes were the only others there.

They said that Dodge and Vulliquette were in the garage and Mrs. Dodge and Bryant were outside, near a window. Dodge picked up the stick of dynamite and broke it. There was an explosion that knocked the two men to the floor, Vulliqette with wounds in the chest. An instant later the stick in the window exploded, blew out the side of the building and injured Mrs. Dodge and Bryant.

Bryant was suffering internal injuries and was feared to be dying. Mrs. Dodge and Vulliquette were not seriously hurt, physicians believed.

Dodge was the son of the late John F. Dodge, one of two brothers who founded the automobile company.

Lupe Velez Tucks Divorce Under Arm and Heads for N. Y.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Her domestic life with her "John-e-e" thoroughly aired for the benefit of an interested judge and a divorce in her hand, the tempestuous Lupe Velez prepared today to leave for New York.

The lord of the jungle (Johnny Weissmuller, the swimmer, to lots of people and Tarzan to thousands of movie fans) and Lupe brought their five-year marriage to an end yesterday, when Lupe was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Well known, indeed for her ability to talk, Lupe did a lot of talking in court as she related details of the screen Tarzan's alleged acts of cruelty.

And when it was all over, Lupe received the decree and a property settlement by which she will receive their $50,000 home, half of a $15,000 bank account, a joint interest in two apartment houses and $200 a week for 156 weeks.

Weissmuller retains possession of his two boats, a yacht and a speed boat.

It appeared to be "Mansfield Day" at the state capital yesterday as three separate delegations treckked to Columbus on official business. Mayor Claude M. Hunter and City Engineers Alvin C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, who was also bustling about on business matters.

Mansfield high school gridders are going to find soft landings when they are tackled this fall in games at Stadium field. The turf on the playing field has grown so rapidly as the result of ample rainfall that it forms a veritable blanket, school officials report. People over the state who heard the Mansfield "town square" broadcast over WGAR Cleveland last Saturday night are writing their reactions to friends in the city. One of the features most commented on was the constant blaring of auto horns around Central park, where the broadcast was staged, and at the tail end of the program, the mellow gong of the town clock striking in the courthouse tower. The clock struck several seconds early which permitted it to be heard before the program ended.

JASTER TO GO, BRICKER SAYS

G. O. P. Gubernatorial Nominee Says He'll 'Clean House' at State Capital.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A grand jury investigation of the administration of Gov. Martin L. Davey and the "firing" of highway director John J. Jaster and his assistant, Murray Anderson, was promised today by John W. Bricker if he is elected governor.

The Republican candidate opened his campaign against his Democratic opponent, Charles Sawyer, in a radio address last night in which he declared:

"I am not so childish as to believe that the state of Ohio has been looted by one man alone."

"My opponent has gone up and down the state saying that the employes of the highway department have nothing to fear from him," Bricker asserted. "They do have something to fear from me.

"Plundering of the state on the grand scale which we have witnessed has been effected through the concerted activities of a well organized and numerous collection of political boodlers.

"It took hundreds, and every last one of them must go.

"I will fire John Jaster, the highway director. I will fire Murray Anderson, assistant director."

Bricker, in his pledge for a grand jury probe, asked for election of Republican Thomas J. Herbert as attorney general over Herbert S. Duffy, Democratic incumbent.

MANSFIELD BOYS TO GO ON 3-DAY 'GYPSY RAMBLE' AROUND STATE

A three-day educational motor trip through Ohio, known as a "Gypsy Ramble," is being planned for this month by the Y. M. C. A. for Mansfield boys, Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, announced today.

The trip will cover about 500 miles, Chapman said and will be similar to a trip conducted recently by the Ashland "Y." It will be in charge of John Madson, Wittenberg college student, who was in charge of the Ashland trip. The boys will travel in trucks, and will camp out each night.

Assisting Madson will be Glenn Robinson, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. boys work committee, and Chapman. The trip is scheduled for the last week of August and is open to any Mansfield boy.

The tour will go first to Mt. Vernon, then to Newark to visit the Indian mounds. At Columbus the boys will visit the penitentiary, state capitol building, museum and Ohio State university. In Springfield they will see Wittenberg college and the Crowell Publishing company.

At Dayton they will visit Wright field, Radio Station WHIO, the Dayton police and fire departments and the Y. M. C. A. The last day of the trip will take the group to Piqua to see the state fish hatchery, and to Lima to see the oil fields and the state hospital.

Boys wishing to make the trip are asked to register at the "Y." A meeting will be held there at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at which plans of the trip will be outlined.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Miss Cramer Had Lived in Mansfield 33 Years.

Miss Katherine Elizabeth Cramer, daughter of the late Michael and Mary Waldorf Cramer, died at the Hagelbarger convalescent home, 239 Cline avenue, Monday evening after a lingering illness.

Born in Fredericksburg, Miss Cramer had been a resident of Mansfield for the past 33 years.

EXPENSES SOAR BUT RECEIPTS GO EVEN HIGHER

Deficit Wiped Out, Balance Left on Books Despite Hike in Guarantees.

Mansfield high school's withdrawal from the North Central Ohio conference was profitable for the school's athletic department despite the expenditure of $1,000 for football guarantees, the athletic commission's report to the board of education showed today.

Beginning the 1937-38 athletic season with a deficit of $729, the athletic department wound up with a balance of $250, the report showed. Football receipts totaling $4,855 were instrumental in reducing the deficit to the present figure, H. W. Arlin, chairman of the commission, said.

Football showed a profit of $582 last fall. Basketball, second major sport, also revealed a profit. Receipts amounted to $1,739 against expenses of $1,317. Track produced $458, only $42 less than it cost to conduct the sport.

Withdrawal Boosts Costs.

Arlin pointed out that football expenditures far exceeded the budget, but this was due to the unforeseen withdrawal of the school from the circuit. The withdrawal necessitated last-minute schedule changes which involved the payment of guarantees. No. guarantees prevailed in the N. C. O. set-up.

Football guarantees last fall cost the school $1,000, and this year the budget for this purpose has been set for $875.

The board of education last night approved a tentative 1938-39 budget calling for the expenditure of $5,770 for the athletic department. Estimated expenses for the sports and physical education program for the year are nearly $1,000 under the anticipated receipts from athletic events, listed at $6,710.

The budget set-up calls for $3,485 for fotoball, $1,668 for basketball and $616 for track. If the gate receipts are near the estimated figures, the school will be able to pay off most of the stadium indebtedness, now $1,675, school board members predicted.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Senator Minton Proposes To Muzzle Press, Keep Own Libel Law Immunity

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Sherman Minton, the New Deal senator from Indiana, made a speech to the American Press society Saturday in defense of his proposal to muzzle the press under a pretense of penalizing those who knowingly publish untruths.

There was an interesting play about twenty years ago called "Nothing but the Truth" which thoroughly proved that it is impossible for any human being to avoid telling a deliberate lie in the course of a normal day's intercourse with his fellow men. United States senators were not specifically dealt with in the play but were included by implication.

* * *

However, the play could have digressed to point out that the group of which Senator Minton is a member, the body of lawmakers in this country, is the only element in our society that requires a special law to permit such men as Mr. Minton to lie wantonly, viciously and scurrilously without fear of any penalty.

And it need not be pointed out, either, that the members of this group have liberally availed themselves of this privilege, often to the great injury of innocent citizens and groups, in utterances which they knew to be complete lies and which they would not have dared repeat in premises where their parliamentary privilege to lie and slander would not stand between them and legal punishment.

* * *

"I suggested," he said, in explanation of his attempt to muzzle the press for opposition to the reorganization bill, "that to print a lie wilfully and knowingly should be as great a crime as selling poison food or selling fake stocks."

There are penalties already, for the wilful publication of false information in most circumstances. But Senator Minton personally enjoys a right not only to tell lies on the floor but to publish them in the Congressional Record, a document so mendacious, scurrilous and slandering that the press which he attacks for lying long ago learned to quote from it only with extreme caution lest culpable libel be done. It is recognized in the newspaper business that, because the members of congress have and exercise a right to lie and to publish their lies in the record, the record is a dangerous source of direct or even indirect quote.

* * *

The lay press enjoys no such immunity as that which protects the senators and give congressmen and the little family journal that they employ to give wider and more permanent circulation to any slander they may care to utter in cowardice and wanton violation of the known truth. Senator Minton and his colleagues in the legislative bodies, alone of all the American nation, are privileged to lie without restrain, and to say that they do not overwork the privilege would be to print a lie wilfully and knowingly—a very serious offense in the senator's views.

* * *

"I do not believe that the constitution or those who framed it ever intended it to be used as a defense for the liar and slanderer," said the statesman who holds a liar's license from the people of Indiana. And to this I would add, in very serious vein, that the theory of congressional immunity was not intended for that purpose either.

It was intended to give the statesmen a free tongue in the expression of views and information they believed to be true, on the sadly discredited theory that they would bring to their office the honesty, courage and character which that privilege bespoke.

* * *

To paraphrase Senator Minton, "the congressional immunity and those who framed it did not intend it to be used as a defense for the liar and slanderer," but if he denies that it is habitually so used then he is flouting the very restraints which he would impose on publishers who knowingly trifle with the truth.

And now, if Senator Minton will suggest how he and his colleagues can be punished for abuse of their parliamentary immunity, from the consequences of wilful lies and slander, he will point the way to enforcement of his proposal against the press.

"I learned from the great newspaper publishers," said Senator Minton, "that they claim the constitutional right to deliberately lie and that you cannot run a newspaper without lying deliberately."

* * *

That would be important if true, although its truth is not established by the mere word of a man who holds a legal license to slander and lie. But it is at least equally important to realize that, to paraphrase the senator again:

"Senators claim the legal right to deliberately lie and that you cannot run the United States congress without lying deliberately."

Hollywood Speaks---

--By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—One of the cruelest of movie practices—ahoy, you government investigators!— is the big welcome and publicity given every pretty newcomer to the lots.

The girl steps off the train or plane, contract in one hand, new bunch of roses in the other. The flash bulbs flare as she gets the Big Greeting, and then she's whisked off triumphantly in a luxurious studio car presumably to plunge into the Glamor Pond for a big splash. She feels like a queen and she is one—for a day.

Maybe it even lasts a week. Bubbling with excitement, she goes to the still gallery and they take enough pictures to fill a catalogue. The lensers take her to the beach and snap her in "play poses"—if the legs are passable—and pretty soon she sees her picture in the papers—if the legs are knockouts. And then she goes to training school. Or she just waits. Or both.

* * *

TWO months ago I talked to Dorothy Comingore. She'd just been signed after a scramble in which three studios participated. She was the girl Chaplin applauded at the Carmel little theater. From all the excitement I figured she'd go into a picture the next week at the latest.

Saw her again the other day, visiting the "Angels With Dirty Faces" set and watching Cagney and O'Brien work. She looked wistful when I asked her what was up. "I don't know when I'll get a part," she said. "I wish I did."

Cagney overheard. "Don't worry," he comforted her. "They have to 'discover' you about a dozen times before it takes."

It's the waiting that's torture. I've a hunch Dorothy—they're calling her Linda Winters now—is going to click. But for one of her there are dozens of others who get the same build-up only to find themselves ushered out—at the end of the first contract period—via the back door. No flash bulbs then, and no roses, and the studio cars are all busy—casting in new prospects from the trains and planes.

* * *

A REFINED form of this common cruelty is that reserved for the girls they are "saving for something big."

Director William Keighley told me about a girl he'd spotted as a possibility and tested, using extreme care so that her dramatic deficiencies could be overshadowed by her photographic beauty. The test was so good they signed her with flag-waving.

Some time later Keighley thought of the girl for a small role in one of his pictures.

"Oh, you can't have her for that!" he was told. "We're saving her for something big!"

"Something big," in this case, turned out to be the gate. There's nothing bigger than a studio gate—to the girl with a one-way ticket to the outside.

Arleen Whelan was a girl they saved for something big. And they gave her such a build-up that everybody expected more than she could give. Arleen's going to be a star—she's got that personality—but I wonder if she's luckier than Lynn Bari, another Zanuck comer. Lynn is just stepping into leading roles after three years of "bits" and training. She's learned the hard way—the way Arleen will have to learn.

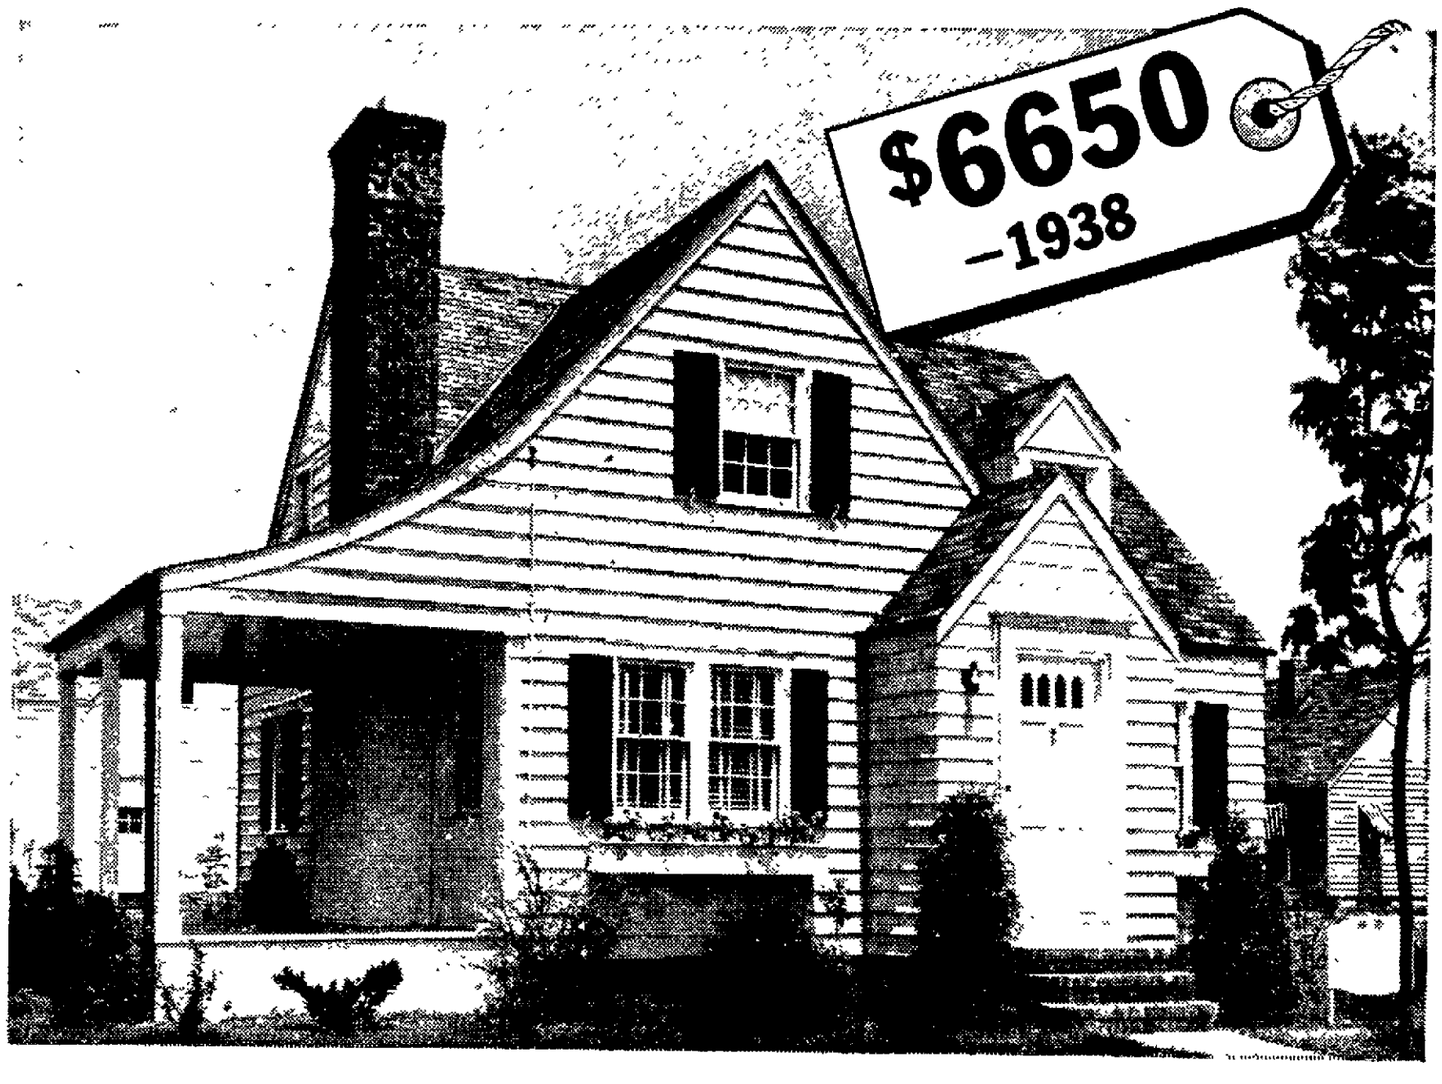
—AND YOU GET MORE HOME for your money TODAY, too!



—actually, in Today's Home you get 25% to 40% MORE REAL VALUE

These 16 "EXTRAS" for Better Living

A HOME is such an infrequent purchase—we so seldom investigate the "new models"—that we just don't follow the up-to-the-minute features, just don't keep track of the extra values. That being the case, you are probably not aware that today you can get MORE HOME for your money, too—from 25% to 40% more home, in fact, than at any time in history.

For example, there are many new, lower cost materials that can be applied more quickly—ready-made door frames, windows, kitchen and other cabinet assemblies, standard lumber, modern building products that come in planned units for speedy and labor-saving assembly. In short, your 1938 building dollar is a bigger dollar: it buys 25% to 40% more real value than at any time in history. Here's why this is true

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, with new and improved labor-saving devices, streamlined, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping, and better room arrangement that eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, as well as healthier atmospheric conditions, all now help to minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low-cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

Probe Death of Dodge, Drowned in Bay After Blast

BOATMEN HUNT BODY OF AUTO FORTUNE HEIR

Youth Leaped From Boat After Dynamite Explosion Injured Four, Young Bride Says.

BULLETIN

DETROIT — (INS) — The 21-year-old Gore Bay, Ont., telephone girl who married young motor millions heir Daniel G. Dodge two weeks ago is a beneficiary in the only will young Dodge left, it was learned today.

(By United Press)

MINDEMOYA, Ont.—Provincial authorities investigated today the death of Daniel G. Dodge, 21, heir to a $9,000,000 automobile fortune, who fell from a motorboat and was lost in Georgian bay while he, his bride of two weeks and two employes at his summer estate were speeding to a hospital here. All had been badly injured in a dynamite explosion.

Twenty men in boats were grappling for the body, but it was in 90 feet of water and the search was believed hopeless.

The burned and bleeding survivors said Dodge stepped over the side of the boat while blinded and hysterical with pain. The dynamite had exploded in his hands, they said, when he picked it up from the floor of the garage at the Dodge family's summer home, 20 miles west of the settlement of Little Current. His left arm and leg were shattered and part of his face was blown away.

Inspect Garage.

Authorities went to view the garage to decide whether the dynamite had been planted. The survivors said that there were two explosions, the first one having set off another stick of dynamite that lay on a windsow sill.

Those who reached shore in the boat were Mrs. Dodge, 18, the former Annie Laurine MacDonald who was a telephone operator at Gore Bay, Ont., before her marriage to the automobile heir two weeks ago; Frank Vulliquette, a caretaker, and Lester Bryant, another employe at the estate, Maple Point. The newlyweds were spending their honeymoon at the estate and the employes were the only others there.

They said that Dodge and Vulliquette were in the garage and Mrs. Dodge and Bryant were outside, near a window. Dodge picked up the stick of dynamite and broke it. There was an explosion that knocked the two men to the floor, Vulliqette with wounds in the chest. An instant later the stick in the window exploded, blew out the side of the building and injured Mrs. Dodge and Bryant.

Bryant was suffering internal injuries and was feared to be dying. Mrs. Dodge and Vulliquette were not seriously hurt, physicians believed.

Dodge was the son of the late John F. Dodge, one of two brothers who founded the automobile company.

Lupe Velez Tucks Divorce Under Arm and Heads for N. Y.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Her domestic life with her "John-e-e" thoroughly aired for the benefit of an interested judge and a divorce in her hand, the tempestuous Lupe Velez prepared today to leave for New York.

The lord of the jungle (Johnny Weissmuller, the swimmer, to lots of people and Tarzan to thousands of movie fans) and Lupe brought their five-year marriage to an end yesterday, when Lupe was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Well known, indeed for her ability to talk, Lupe did a lot of talking in court as she related details of the screen Tarzan's alleged acts of cruelty.

And when it was all over, Lupe received the decree and a property settlement by which she will receive their $50.000 home, half of a $15,000 bank account, a joint interest in two apartment houses and $200 a week for 156 weeks.

Weissmuller retains possession of his two boats, a yacht and a speed boat.

Shots of the All-American Soap Box Derby held in Akron Sunday are on display in the front office window at the News-Journal, and they are attracting considerable attention. The pictures include one of Loren (Sonny) Wiley, The News-Journal champion, with Harry Hart, former Indianapolis Speedway driver, who served as starter at Akron; the Mansfield boy's car being weighed-in and the finals of the Derby.

It appeared to be "Mansfield Day" at the state capital yesterday as three separate delegations treckked to Columbus on official business. Mayor Claude M. Hunter and City Engineers Alvin C. Mock and Glenn Weller were somewhat surprised to see County Commissioners C. L. Mitchell and Guy Stewart at the state house and then a few minutes later to run into Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, who was also bustling about on business matters.

Mansfield high school gridders are going to find soft landings when they are tackled this fall in games at Stadium field. The turf, on the playing field has grown so rapidly as the result of ample rainfall that it forms a veritable blanket, school officials report. "If we use any more fertilizer on the field, we'll have to cut hay between each game," W. C. Mead, school board member, commented.

People over the state who heard the Mansfield "town square" broadcast over WGAR Cleveland last Saturday night are writing their reactions to friends in the city. One of the features most commented on was the constant blaring of auto horns around Central park, where the broadcast was staged, and at the tail end of the program, the mellow gong of the town clock striking in the courthouse tower. The clock struck several seconds early which permitted it to be heard before the program ended.

JASTER TO GO, BRICKER SAYS

G. O. P. Gubernatorial Nominee Says He'll 'Clean House' at State Capital.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A grand jury investigation of the administration of Gov. Martin L. Davey and the "firing" of highway director John J. Jaster and his assistant, Murray Anderson, was promised today by John W. Bricker if he is elected governor.

The Republican candidate opened his campaign against his Democratic opponent, Charles Sawyer, in a radio address last night in which he declared:

"I am not so childish as to believe that the state of Ohio has been looted by one man alone."

"My opponent has gone up and down the state saying that the employes of the highway department have nothing to fear from him," Bricker asserted. "They do have something to fear from me.

"Plundering of the state on the grand scale which we have witnessed has been effected through the concerted activities of a well organized and numerous collection of political boodlers.

"It took hundreds, and every last one of them must go.

"I will fire John Jaster, the highway director. I will fire Murray Anderson, assistant director."

Bricker, in his pledge for a grand jury probe, asked for election of Republican Thomas J. Herbert as attorney general over Herbert S. Duffy, Democratic incumbent.

MANSFIELD BOYS TO GO ON 3-DAY 'GYPSY RAMBLE' AROUND STATE

A three-day educational motor trip through Ohio, known as a "Gypsy Ramble," is being planned for this month by the Y. M. C. A. for Mansfield boys, Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, announced today.

The trip will cover about 500 miles, Chapman said and will be similar to a trip conducted recently by the Ashland "Y." It will be in charge of John Madson, Wittenberg college student, who was in charge of the Ashland trip. The boys will travel in trucks, and will camp out each night.

Assisting Madson will be Glenn Robinson, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. boys work committee, and Chapman. The trip is scheduled for the last week of August and is open to any Mansfield boy.

The tour will go first to Mt. Vernon, then to Newark to visit the Indian mounds. At Columbus the boys will visit the penitentiary, state capitol building, museum and Ohio State university. In Springfield they will see Wittenberg college and the Crowell Publishing company.

At Dayton they will visit Wright field, Radio Station WHIO, the Dayton police and fire departments and the Y. M. C. A. The last day of the trip will take the group to Piqua to see the state fish hatchery, and to Lima to see the oil fields and the state hospital.

Boys wishing to make the trip are asked to register at the "Y." A meeting will be held there at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at which plans of the trip will be outlined.

EXPENSES SOAR BUT RECEIPTS GO EVEN HIGHER

Deficit Wiped Out, Balance Left on Books Despite Hike in Guarantees.

Mansfield high school's withdrawal from the North Central Ohio conference was profitable for the school's athletic department despite the expenditure of $1,000 for football guarantees, the athletic commission's report to the board of education showed today.

Beginning the 1937-38 athletic season with a deficit of $729, the athletic department wound up with a balance of $250, the report showed. Football receipts totaling $4,855 were instrumental in reducing the deficit to the present figure, H. W. Arlin, chairman of the commission, said.

Football showed a profit of $582 last fall. Basketball, second major sport, also revealed a profit. Receipts amounted to $1,739 against expenses of $1,317. Track produced $458, only $42 less than it cost to conduct the sport.

Withdrawal Boosts Costs.

Arlin pointed out that football expenditures far exceeded the budget, but this was due to the unforeseen withdrawal of the school from the circuit. The withdrawal necessitated last-minute schedule changes which involved the payment of guarantees. No. guarantees prevailed in the N. C. O. set-up.

Football guarantees last fall cost the school $1,000, and this year the budget for this purpose has been set for $875.

The board of education last night approved a tentative 1938-39 budget calling for the expenditure of $5,770 for the athletic department. Estimated expenses for the sports and physical education program for the year are nearly $1,000 under the anticipated receipts from athletic events, listed at $6,710.

The budget set-up calls for $3,485 for fotoball, $1,668 for basketball and $616 for track. If the gate receipts are near the estimated figures, the school will be able to pay off most of the stadium indebtedness, now $1,675, school board members predicted.

A covered-dish supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. and a program given afterward. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, member of the executive staff, will be master of ceremonies. Joseph Leverenz, national representative, will speak.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Senator Minton Proposes To Muzzle Press, Keep Own Libel Law Immunity

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Sherman Minton, the New Deal senator from Indiana, made a speech to the American Press society Saturday in defense of his proposal to muzzle the press under a pretense of penalizing those who knowingly publish untruths.

There was an interesting play about twenty years ago called "Nothing but the Truth" which thoroughly proved that it is impossible for any human being to avoid telling a deliberate lie in the course of a normal day's intercourse with his fellow men. United States senators were not specifically dealt with in the play but were included by implication.

* * *

However, the play could have digressed to point out that the group of which Senator Minton is a member, the body of lawmakers in this country, is the only element in our society that requires a special law to permit such men as Mr. Minton to lie wantonly, viciously and scurrilously without fear of any penalty.

And it need not be pointed out, either, that the members of this group have liberally availed themselves of this privilege. often to the great injury of innocent citizens and groups, in utterances which they knew to be complete lies and which they would not have dared repeat in premises where their parliamentary privilege to lie and slander would not stand between them and legal punishment.

* * *

"I suggested," he said, in explanation of his attempt to muzzle the press for opposition to the reorganization bill, "that to print a lie wilfully and knowingly should be as great a crime as selling poison food or selling fake stocks."

There are penalties already, for the wiltul publication of false information in most circumstances. But Senator Minton personally enjoys a right not only to tell lies on the floor but to publish them in the Congressional Record, a document so mendacious, scurrilous and slandering that the press which he attacks for lying long ago learned to quote from it only with extreme caution lest culpable libel be done. It is recognized in the newspaper business that, because the members of congress have and exercise a right to lie and to publish their lies in the record, the record is a dangerous source of direct or even indirect quote.

* * *

The lay press enjoys no such immunity as that which protects the senators and give congressmen and the little family journal that they employ to give wider and more permanent circulation to any slander they may care to utter in cowardice and wanton violation of the known truth. Senator Minton and his colleagues in the legislative bodies, alone of all the American nation, are privileged to lie without restrain, and to say that they do not overwork the privilege would be to print a lie wilfully and knowingly—a very serious offense in the senator's views.

* * *

"I do not believe that the constitution or those who framed it ever intended it to be used as a defense for the liar and slanderer," said the statesman who holds a liar's license from the people of Indiana. And to this I would add, in very serious vein, that the theory of congressional immunity was not intended for that purpose either.

It was intended to give the statesmen a free tongue in the expression of views and information they believed to be true, on the sadly discredited theory that they would bring to their office the honesty, courage and character which that privilege bespoke.

* * *

To paraphrase Senator Minton, "the congressional immunity and those who framed it did not intend it to be used as a defense for the liar and slanderer," but if he denies that it is habitually so used then he is flouting the very restraints which he would impose on publishers who knowingly trifle with the truth.

And now, if Senator Minton will suggest how he and his colleagues can be punished for abuse of their parliamentary immunity, from the consequences of wilful lies and slander, he will point the way to enforcement of his proposal against the press.

"I learned from the great newspaper publishers," said Senator Minton, "that they claim the constitutional right to deliberately lie and that you cannot run a newspaper without lying deliberately."

* * *

That would be important if true, although its truth is not established by the mere word of a man who holds a legal license to slander and lie. But it is at least equally important to realize that, to paraphrase the senator again:

"Senators claim the legal right to deliberately lie and that you cannot run the United States congress without lying deliberately."

Hollywood Speaks---

--By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—One of the cruelest of movie practices—ahoy, you government investigators!— is the big welcome and publicity given every pretty newcomer to the lots.

The girl steps off the train or plane, contract in one hand, new bunch of roses in the other. The flash bulbs flare as she gets the Big Greeting, and then she's whisked off triumphantly in a luxurious studio car presumably to plunge into the Glamor Pond for a big splash. She feels like a queen and she is one—for a day

Maybe it even lasts a week. Bubbling with excitement, she goes to the still gallery and they take enough pictures to fill a catalogue. The lensers take her to the beach and snap her in "play poses"—if the legs are passable—and pretty soon she sees her picture in the papers—if the legs are knockouts. And then she goes to training school. Or she just waits. Or both.

* * *

TWO months ago I talked to Dorothy Comingore. She'd just been signed after a scramble in which three studios participated. She was the girl Chaplin applauded at the Carmel little theater. From all the excitement I figured she'd go into a picture the next week at the latest.

Saw her again the other day, visiting the "Angels With Dirty Faces" set and watching Cagney and O'Brien work. She looked wistful when I asked her what was up. "I don't know when I'll get a part," she said. "I wish I did."

Cagney overheard. "Don't worry," he comforted her. "They have to 'discover' you about a dozen times before it takes."

It's the waiting that's torture. I've a hunch Dorothy—they're calling her Linda Winters now—is going to click. But for one of her there are dozens of others who get the same build-up only to find themselves ushered out—at the end of the first contract period—via the back door. No flash bulbs then, and no roses, and the studio cars are all busy—carting in new prospects from the trains and 'planes.

* * *

A REFINED form of this common cruelty is that reserved for the girls they are "saving for something big."

Director William Keighley told me about a girl he'd spotted as a possibility and tested. using extreme care so that her dramatic deficiencies could be overshadowed by her photographic beauty. The test was so good they signed her with flag-waving.

Some time later Keighley thought of the girl for a small role in one of his pictures.

"Oh, you can't have her for that!" he was told. "We're saving her for something big!"

"Something big," in this case, turned out to be the gate. There's nothing bigger than a studio gate—to the girl with a one-way ticket to the outside.

Arleen Whelan was a girl they saved for something big. And they gave her such a build-up that everybody expected more than she could give. Arleen's going to be a star—she's got that personality—but I wonder if she's luckier than Lynn Bari, another Zanuck comer. Lynn is just stepping into leading roles after three years of "bits" and training. She's learned the hard way—the way Arleen will have to learn.

Legion Team Plays Newark

Sunday's Game Closes Sked for Mansfield.

The American Legion club closes its Central Ohio semi-pro league schedule Sunday at Newark.

Whether it will be necessary for the Legionnaires to play any of their games postponed by rain will depend on the outcome of the Lancaster-Jackson game next Sunday.

Should Jackson be beaten Sunday, Mansfield will be forced to play Jackson in a game to decide the team to meet Newark, first half champion, in a play-off to determine the league title, Manager Dewey Durant has been informed.

As far as Durant now knows, Jackson is still undefeated in the second half.

The Legion retained second place in the second half Sunday when it defeated Lancaster, 6 to 4, in 15 innings at Lancaster. It was the longest game played in the circuit this season.

Harold Geiger served 'em up for the Legionnaires, and he responded with another spectacular performance.

Tribe Leaves Stadium

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Mel Harder went after his 10th victory of the season here today as the Cleveland Indians opened a short home stand by engaging the St. Louis Browns. Les Tietje, who beat the Tribe last week at St. Louis, was slated to hurl for the Browns.

In an effort to bolster the Cleveland defense Manager Oscar Vitt announced he would start Jimmy Webb at shortstop in place of the erratic Lyn Lary.

With the Indians trailing the pace-setting New York Yankees by 7½ games the Cleveland management has released its option to perform at the giant lake-front stadium.

The Tribe will appear at the stadium Sunday for a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox and then play all the remainder of its home contests at League park. Three other Sunday engagements already had been scheduled for the stadium, but these have been cancelled.

Three Teams Involved In Club Battle

Foresters Hold Slight Lead, Radios Are Second.

The torrid battle for first place in the Y. M. C. A. Club league was little changed today following the play-off of postponements involving the leaders.

The Catholic Foresters strengthened their first place margin slightly by defeating the Hermits, 6 to 3, in a game called at the end of the eighth because of darkness at Liberty park.

The Foresters now lead the Zents' Radios by a game and a half. The Radios and Schoolmasters battled to a nine-inning 4-all tie at North park yesterday. The standings of the three leading teams follow:

The Schoolmasters have two more games to play with the Radiomen, and one with the Foresters. These games will undoubtedly decide the title.

Gilde turned in a nice pitching performance for the Foresters. He allowed only five hits, and was practically invincible in the pinches. He also obtained the only extra base hit of the game, a double.

The Schoolmasters appeared to have the ball game sewed up at the North park yesterday until the Radios rallied in the last inning to knot the count.

Scoles allowed only two hits up to the eighth inning, and did not permit a run until then. The play of Thomas, Schoolmasters' rover was spectacular. Freeman and Fendrick led the Schoolmasters' attack with two hits apiece.

GIANTS RECALL MYATT, PLACE HIM AT THIRD

NEW YORK—(AP)—George Myatt of the Jersey City Giants, leading base-stealer of the International League, moved up to third base for the New York Giants today as Manager Bill Terry scrambled his lineup in a desperate attempt to overhaul the Pittsburgh Pirates. Myatt, recalled last night, will replace Mel Ott who returns to his old job in right field.

NEW PHILADELPHIA COACH GETS HUNTINGTON POST

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.—(AP)—John Brickles, New Philadelphia high school coach and former Newark high school and Wittenberg college athlete, today was named Huntington high school athletic director, succeeding Eddie Blickle who was appointed to the Ohio State University coaching staff.

Soprano Fan!

Mrs. Mary Ott, who has had a seat in Box 16, Sportsmans Park grandstand, St. Louis, for 18 years, has a strong claim to the honor of being baseball's No. 1 Soprano Fan. Mrs. Ott's strenuous cheering efforts on behalf of the Cards are an institution. At the top, you may watch her as she combines voice and gesture in an effort to bring a victory. Note her thoughtfulness in the first picture, her joy at the Cards' good fortune in Nos. 2 and 3. In No. 4 Mrs. Ott indulges in a St. Louis Bronx cheer. Because of the Cardinals' record this season, she has probably had more occasion for this expression than for any other in her repertoire.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Gabby Hartnett managed his Chicago Cubs from the bench today and it probably will be three weeks before he can resume his regular job behind the plate. His right thumb was fractured yesterday when struck by a foul tip off the bat of Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, in the first inning.

Dr. John H. Davis, club physician, said Gabby might be able to serve as a pinch hitter within ten days. Ken O'Dea and Bob Garback will divide the catching.

THE standings in The News-Journal Class A golf league were slightly changed by yesterday's matches at Possum Run.

Bill Kuhn's Richland Printers retained first place, but the DeLuxe Cabs were ousted from the runner-up position by the Goldsmith Clothiers.

The Goldsmith team, which trails the Printers by only four points, advanced by blanking the slumping Cabbies, 3 to 0, with one match postponed. The Printers added a point to their advantage by taking the Big Three Beers into camp by a 4 to 1 count, and the Matthes Clothiers edged Yuncker Sports, 2 to 1, with one match postponed.

Yesterday's triumph put the Goldsmith sluggers two points ahead of the Cabs and within striking distance of the Printers.

A feature of yesterday's play was Carl Kushin's 33. This tied the Matthes team star's own league record which he holds jointly with Pete Linster of the Printers and Vin Malaska of the Cabs.

In shooting the 33, Kushin defeated his brother, Al, who was only one stroke behind with a 34. Bob Moorhead of the Goldsmith team also shot a 34. The 36 shooters yesterday were Frank Cipris of the Beers and Linster.

Liberty Game Decides Title

Dominions Will Be 'In' If They Win Wednesday.

It all depends on the Page Dairys. If they can win, well . . . it won't be bad for a couple of other teams. But if they lose it will all be over.

The Dairymen meet the Dominion Electrics in the headline game on the Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league card at Liberty park Wednesday, and as this week's games close the season, the outcome of this particular tilt will have something to say about the championship.

If the Dominion club wins, the championship will become its property. A defeat for the Electrics will enable the Nick's Place to gain a tie for the title.

Nick's team meets the Hartman Electrics at Empire field Wednesday, while the Miller Dairys meet the Sweet Gulf Oils at Prospect Park and the All-State Freights engage the Tappan Stoves at North park.

JOHNS PARK JUNIORS WIN WILD-SCORING AFFRAY

In a wild scoring game in which runs were tallied in every inning, the Johns park Juniors edged the T. D. Sports, 18 to 16, at Johns park yesterday. Home runs in the slugfest were hit by Bajai, Carmel and Miller of the Sports and B. Brown of the Juniors.

PROSPECT PARK'S rampaging softballers cinched a share of the second half championship in the city recreation-sponsored City Class A league yesterday when they defeated Johns Park 10 to 8, at Prospect park.

The season has only one more week to run, and if Prospect can win, the crown will be theirs regardless of what its nearest rival accomplishes.

One Game Ahead.

Yesterday's triumph put Prospect one full game ahead of the Johnnies, first half champions, and even if it should happen that the race ends in a tie, Manager Johnny Valentine's men are definitely in the championship play-off.

League officials have ruled that if Prospect and Johns are deadlocked after next week's games, the two teams will immediately start a play-off for the league title rather than a series to determine the second half honors.

The victory was the third for Prospect in four games with Johns Park this season, and gives it the distinction of being the only club to defeat the Johnnies this season.

Prospect received plenty of satisfaction out of the game as it bombarded the Johns' ace, Jimmy Fullager, from the mound in the fifth. This is the first time this season that Fullager has been knocked out of the box.

The Prospectors found Fullager for 11 hits in five innings. Freddy Carver came to Fullager's rescue, and gave up only two hits the rest of the way as he held the Johnnies scoreless.

Prospect held a 10 to 5 advantage when Fullager was jerked, but the Johnnies threatened seriously in the eighth when they put three runs across the plate.

Ted Frisbee and Al Stickler shared the pitching duties for Prospect, and they held Johns to nine hits, Mahoney collecting a triple, double and single to set the pace. Judy obtained a home run and two singles for Prospect.

In addition to Judy, the home run hitters were Bride and Bowen of Johns and Frisbee of Prospect.

Bob Bride's circuit clout with two aboard gave Johns Park a 3-run advantage right off the bat, but Prospect knotted the count in its half with a rally featured by Stickler's triple.

Obtains Safe Lead.

Prospect took a lead it never lost in the second when the Johnnies' infield faltered to permit two runs. Bowen's home run sent two runs home for Johns Park in the third to reduce the Prospect lead to a run.

Home runs by Judy and Frisbee headlined the four-run uprising staged by Prospect in the fifth, the inning in which Fullager was driven to the showers.

Liberty Park won on a forfeit from North Park in the other game scheduled.

Odds Favor Henry As Box Office Business Booms

NEW YORK—(AP)—The public suddenly has realized that Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers will punch it out for Lou's lightweight title in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night and the result is a gratifying boom in box office business.

All day yesterday fans stood in line outside the box office while Promoter Mike Jacobs beamed and predicted "a sell-out sure."

The odds favor Henry by as much as 3 to 1 to beat Lou and add the lightweight crown to his featherweight honors. Nevertheless the man in the street apparently thinks Lou will make a fight of it.

All-Star Tilt Date Changed

The champion Canzols will meet the city recreation Senior league All-Star team in the annual all-star game at Liberty park at 6 p. m. Wednesday instead of Thursday, Director Ed Chatlain said today in announcing schedule changes.

The regular season will be brought to a close today when Liberty park meets the Eagles at Liberty park. The Shaughnessy playoff will get under way Thursday.

Pittsburgh Suffers From 'Pennant Jitters'

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today appeared to be entering the secondary stages of "pennant jitters."

Noted for their collapses in the past just when it seemed they would win the National league title, the Pirates have lost six of their last nine games.

Breezing along with a 2-0 lead in the seventh yesterday the Buccaneers collapsed and blew a game to the Cincinnati Reds 6-2.

The unpredictable Cubs lost the first game of their long home stand to the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-4, and lost the services of their catch-manager, Gabby Hartnett for two or three weeks. Hartnett's thumb was fractured by a foul from the bat of Joe Medwick in the first inning.

Stuart Martin's double and two singles drove in six of the Cardinals' runs. Lon Warneke held his former teammates to seven hits while the Cards drove Clay Bryant to cover with a 13-hit attack in the first seven innings.

Rabbit Warstler's triple and two singles led the Boston Bees to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies in the only other National league game.

The Giants were unscheduled and all American league teams had an off-day.

WATER SYSTEM FOR RURALITES NOW AUTOMATIC

Maintains Even Pressure at Faucets, Even Lubricates Itself, Bureau Says.

Modern water systems for farm and suburban homes located "beyond the water mains" are entirely automatic, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

An up-to-date electric water system, the Bureau explains, will automatically maintain pressure at the faucets, will start and stop automatically, and will lubricate itself automatically.

Water systems for farm homes are of particular interest at this time, the Bureau points out, because the revised Title I of the National Housing act provides for the insurance of loans for the installation of a complete water system in a farm or suburban home, including the drilling of the well, the installation of the pump, and the necessary piping and plumbing.

The two types of electric water systems in common use today are the gravity and the hydro-pneumatic or pressures ystem. The latter consists of a pump and a closed or pneumatic storage tank in which a cushion of air is maintained under pressure to force water from the tank through the service pipes to the faucets.

Attic Good Place.

The gravity system consists of a pump and an overhead tank. This may be placed in an attic or elevated position outside the house. The water flows from the tank to the faucets by gravity or pressure of its own weight.

The trend is definitely toward the hydro-pneumatic system because of its advantage in maintaining a uniform and, if desired, high pressure. Pressure is particularly necessary in case of fire or the use of the water system for irrigation purposes.

Another disadvantage of the gravity system is that the average attic floor will not support the weight of a tank without strong reinforcing. Furthermore, many attics are not sufficiently well insulated to protect the tank from freezing.

The advantage of the hydro-pneumatic system is that the pump and tank are more or less of a unit. This makes for greater ease in servicing, repairs and drainage. When located in the pit with the pump, positive protection against the freezing of the tank can be obtained.

In the selection of a farm pumping system, three factors have to be considered, the bureau explains. These are:

1. Suction conditions which determine whether a shallow well or deep well type of pump is to be used and where the pump is to be located.

2. Amount of water required which determines the size of the pump to be used.

3. Discharge conditions which determine the class of pump to be used; that is, whether low, medium or high pressure.

Pumps are made in various sizes and styles to fit these requirements. Installation under the supervision of a man thoroughly experienced in the design of farm water systems is necessary for efficient and troublefree operation.

Modernism In the Bathroom

Here is the new quadruple purpose tub set off against a modern decorative background. The tub may be used as a foot-bath, a child bath, a shower receptor, and as a conventional tub. Note the convenience of the seats. The tub is 48 inches in width and the angle bath is 5½ feet long. The shower curtain rod is of the new tetlescopic type.

PAM—A Rasping Voice! By A. W. Brewerton

PAM IS TELLING HER PAL, CLARE, ABOUT THE ODD TELEPHONE CALL!
THE COLONEL HAD THE BILLFOLD LOCKED UP—I COULDN'T HAVE GOTTEN IT THEN—HE'D GONE FOR THE DAY, AND PAUL ALSO, WHEN THIS MAN CALLED!
SO HE'S COME TO LIFE AT LAST, HEY?
WHAT'D HE SOUND LIKE, PAM?
WHY—I DIDN'T MUCH LIKE THE SOUND OF HIS VOICE—SORT OF HARSH AND RASPING—TALKED IN JERKS!
—AND HE SEEMED SORE THAT I COULDN'T LET HIM HAVE THE BILL-FOLD RIGHT THEN!—WHY DIDN'T HE CALL SOONER, I WONDER?
AND WHY HADN'T HE ADVERTISED?—HE DIDN'T SAY, HEY?
GEE, I'M SORRY HE SHOWED UP—SORT OF HOPING YOU COULD HANG ON TO THAT MONEY! SAY, DID HE SPEAK OF A REWARD?
NO—I DON'T BELIEVE HE DID! BUT THE BILLFOLD IS UNDOUBTEDLY HIS—HE GAVE ALMOST THE EXACT AMOUNT OF MONEY—SIZE OF THE BILLS, ETC.,—EVEN DESCRIBED THE TRADE MARK ON THE INSIDE FLAP!

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The stock market advanced today in a continuation of yesterday's recovery. Gains ran from 1 to 2 points. The steel list started firm and soon moved up for gains exceeding a point in big steel.

The railroad list displayed a better tone after yesterday's sluggishness. Union Pacific ran up 2 points and Atchison a point; Baltimore and Ohio was backward.

Chemical shares added to yesterday's wide gains, with allied, duPont and Union Carbide up a point each.

Tobacco shares provided an exception to the trend. Philip Morris lost a point.

estimate, grossed $100,000,000 a year.

Hines is helping pick the jury which will decide his fate. He realizes how important the jury is in a trial of this kind. The 61-year-old Tammany chieftain has swerved his chair so that he faces the talesmen as they take their places in the jury box, 12 at a time, for interrogation as to their qualifications.

His chief counsel, Stryker, obviously wants the jurors to have a good look at "Jimmy." For the silver-haired, mild-appearing Hines who, in his long political career, has kissed babies and handed out baskets at Christmas is a pleasant-looking man. Time and again, Stryker has walked over and placing a hand on Hines' shoulder said to a talesman:

"Do you know my client? No? Well, do you see any reason why you cannot give him a square deal in these proceedings? As square a deal as you would want given to you if your position was reversed and you were the defendant?"

DON'T BE VICTIMIZED BY FLY-BY-NIGHT OR CUT-RATE DRY CLEANERS . . . .

Many reports have come to this office that hundreds of people here and elsewhere who have been "victimized" by these companies have learned that "low price" does not mean low cost, and that damaged or ruined garments cannot be offset by a few cents in the first cost.

Mansfield dry cleaning establishments are conducted on a sound business basis. They are a part and parcel of this community, they carry insurance to safeguard themselves and you against loss. Their annual payroll is approximately $150,000. They employ over 125 Mansfield people, many of them heads of families. They pay taxes, contribute to the community fund, Red Cross, and other civic agencies for the Betterment of Mansfield.

Save Money. Patronize Mansfield's own dry cleaners. They are here to stay, and they spend the money you pay them right here in Mansfield.

BENEFITS JUMP IN REVISED U. S. FARM PROGRAM

Added Bonus Only Change in 1939 Set-up, Agricultural Department Says.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Backed by $212,000,000 from the 1938 recovery bill, the new agricultural department today put the finishing touches on its new farm program for 1939 which differs from last year's only to the extent of larger benefit payments.

While benefit payments for farmer-compliance of soil-depleting and soil-biulding acreage allotments will remain approximately the same next year as at present, increased government payments to farmers will be derived through price adjustment funds.

The act appropriating the $212,000,000 specified that price adjustment payments were to go to cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco growers if the price of any one crop fell below 75 per cent of the 1909-1914 level (parity).

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace listed these added benefit payments as follows:

Cotton, 1 8 to 2 cents per pound for AAA compliance and 1.8 to 2 cents a pound in a price adjustment payment. Total, 3.6 to 4 cents per pound of cotton from each acre within the farm's AAA acreage allotment.

Corn 8 To 10 Cents.

Corn, 8 to 10 cents per bushel for AAA compliance, plus five to 6 cents price adjustment rate.

Wheat, 16 to 18 cents per bushel for AAA compliance and 10 to 12 cents per bushel as a price adjustment rate.

Rice, 8 to 10 cents per hundred pounds plus price adjustment of 12 to 15 cents per hundred pounds.

Tobacco, rates will be the same as at present.

AAA decided that for 1939 farmers will be paid a rate of $1 per acre for compliance with soil-depleting acreage allotsments as compared with $1.25 this year, and 50 to 60 cents an acre for non-depleting acreage compliance. Both of these rates are for class A areas as defined by the AAA.

Benefit payments for class B areas are approximately 30 per cent less than those for class A.

Outstanding acreage allotment figures set for the nation for next year were: Wheat, 55,000,000 acres; cotton, 27,500,000. Allotments for corn, tobacco, rice and other commodities will be set according to the situation of each during the crop year. Both the wheat and cotton acreage allotments mark sharp reductions

One outstanding factor in the 1939 program which will prove beneficial to all complying farmers is the new ruling which excludes truck gardens from farm acreage allotments. This rule will permit farmers to raise as large a truck garden of any and all commodities so long as they are for home-use. Only farm acreage from which commodities will be marketed are to count in 1939 acreage allotments.

CLOSE STREET FOR WATER JOB

Engineer Announces Detour on Lexington Avenue While Workmen Install Main.

City Engineer Alvin M. Mock announced today that a portion of U. S. route 42, on Lexington avenut would be closed to through traffic for several weeks.

Beginning tomorrow WPA will begin the construction of a new 29-inch main in connection with the Woodland water improvement and the street will be closed from South Main street to Greenwood avenue, Mock said.

While the line is under construction traffic will be detoured over South Main street and Greenwood avenue. State highway officals have erected temporary route markers and asked that there be no parking of cars on Greenwood avenue.

Mock explained that the state highway department had agreed to close only a portion of the street at this time in order to leave traffic through to business places. When that section of the line is laid, Mock said, that section of the street from Greenwood avenue to Cook road would then be closed.

The street will be open to local traffic and bridges will be constructed into gasoline filling stations.

DEFERS ACTION

Board Checks Taxicab Bids, Makes No Decision.

The Mansfield board of education last night defererd action on the awarding of a contract for transporting handicapped pupils to the city's special schools after opening bids submitted by the Service Taxi and DeLuxe Cab companies.

The taxi contract, involving the expenditures of about $3,400 a year, was held last year by the DeLuxe company.

Although the Service Taxi bid was slightly under the DeLuxe company's figures, board members said they would investigate the equipment of the two bidding firms before letting the contract.

TRENT, YOUNGEST LIFER AT PEN, CARRIES LOLLYPOPS TO CELL

COLUMBUS—(A.P.)—Bespectacled 15-year-old Lindberg Trent of Cincinnati isn't Lindberg Trent anymore—he's No. 74,402 behind the gray walls of Ohio's state penitentiary

The Cincinnati boy, confessed Memorial day slayer of six-year-old Shirley Ann Woodburn, entered the prison this morning, the youngest ever to start a life sentence.

Clutching a Bible, a box of matches and a package of cigarets in one hand and a package of his own radio drawings in the other, young Trent was led behind the bars by Charles Stagnaro, criminal bailiff of Hamilton county.

Young Trent grinned owlishly through his steel-rimmed spectacles as he stepped from the car which carried him to the prison. He wore tennis shoes, a pair of brown, unpressed trousers and a soiled polo shirt, in the pocket of which were three lollypops which Bailiff Stagnaro had purchased for him en route.

As the two parted at the last gate leading to the inside of the prison, Stagnaro shook hands with young Trent.

"Be a good boy, now, Lindy," Stagnaro said, and the boy answered:

"I will, Mr. Stagnaro, and I hope to get out of here before long."

Chief Clerk Dan Bonzo of the penitentiary said the boy would be placed in an isolation ward for the rest of the day and tonight, and would be assigned to a company, probably an idle one, Wednesday.

Four youths in a rowboat saw the crash and rescued the six survivors, and helped recover the bodies of the two dead fliers

A board of inquiry was scheduled to begin investigations today to determine cause of the crashes

Navy officials said they were at a loss to understand why the three men did not use their parachutes They also said there appeared to be no clew to the crash in the wreckage.

TWO WORLDS + + +

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 17

A whole week had passed and Noel hadn't seen Julian. It had seemed almost unbearable. But Noel's pride was aroused. She wasn't going to follow Julian around as Ruth Chester did. She wasn't even going to make any effort to see him. The next move would have to be his. And whether or not he would make any further effort to see her, Noel didn't know.

The hours at the Peacock were becoming more and more hateful. She had made several efforts since her last disastrous failure to find another position. But without any success, or even any encouragement.

One thing, however, Noel had to be thankful for. Luigi didn't make any further effort to see her, even though she was conscious as always of his pale watching eyes.

Chris Landers hadn't come back to the Peacock. Noel found herself expecting him, looking forward to seeing him again, even searching the floor at times hoping for a glimpse of his sleek, shining blond head.

* * *

It wasn't because of any sentimental feeling she had toward him. It was because he seemed more like a man from her own world than any of the others she had met and danced with. She was the kind of girl who had room in her heart for only one man, no matter how indifferently he might treat her. She was made like that and simply couldn't help it. If she hadn't been, she would never have embarked on this adventure, and fought such a losing fight all these long weeks And she had to admit, in all nonesty, that the adventure was losing its zest, since Julian had practically dropped out of the picture.

Once again it was Saturday—a late morning for Laurie, who sometimes went to work as early as 7 o'clock, and sometimes not until 9.

So Laurie was fixing breakfast, while Noel sat in the hard rocker in her pajamas, trying to mend a run in her last pair of good hose. It was amazing, Noel thought, the amount of time it consumed, just trying to keep neat, although Laurie didn't seem to have much trouble doing it.

Laurie took the coffee pot off the gas ring. "Here, let me do that," she exclaimed, taking the stocking from Noel. "If you'll only take tiny stitches, honey, instead of trying to pull it together—"

Noel let Laurie have the chair and stood up, brushed her hair back from her forehead with her hand, and said unhappily, "Oh, I don't suppose I'll ever learn to do anything."

"When I get rich, I'll get you a maid," Laurie said with a little laugh. "And anyway, I like doing things for you."

"I wonder why. I'm sure I don't deserve to have you," Noel said in a low voice. "What you ought to have," she went on, "is a husband and 13 children to fuss over."

"Thirteen—golly!" Laurie's face was so shocked, that Noel had to laugh. "Well, anyway, seven," she amended. "That's a lucky number."

"I could do with seven," Laurie said quite seriously.

Noel stared at her, hardly able to believe Laurie meant what she said. Then she saw again the little fleeting look of sadness come into Laurie's eyes, so Noel changed the subject at once by saying that the weather was getting hot and she hadn't anything cool to wear.

In another minute Laurie was looking more cheerful. "I'll help you find some bargains," she promised and began brushing her hair vigorously. Then she added, "Doctor Paige was asking about you yesterday."

"Was he?" Noel's heart gave a little jump. Then he wasn't quite as indifferent as he seemed. At least he had asked about her.

"He wanted to know how you were, and said he hoped you were enjoying yourself as usual."

Laurie didn't see the dark flush that rose to Noel's face. She wondered if there had been anything ironic in Julian's inquiry as to whether she might be having a good time "as usual." At any rate, it was purely casual, and it gave her a feeling that he didn't expect to see her any time soon.

* * *

And all the time just because of his kiss—Noel's face burned at the thought. Then she asked herself impatiently why she couldn't have sense enough to realize that a kiss was just a kiss to Julian Paige, as it was to hundreds of other men. He had probably forgotten it, while she had hugged the memory of it to her heart ever since. "Women are idiots, aren't they?" Noel said to Laurie

She nodded. "They're always falling in love with the wrong man."

"You too?" Noel asked

Laurie nodded. "It certainly looks like it.

She had finished dressing and was ready now to leave for work. Nothing more was said about Julian. Afterwards Noel would have given anything if she had explained her situation a little more clearly to Laurie. If she had, the thing that happened afterward would have been prevented.

Noel felt so tired and dispirited this morning she didn't even get a paper to look over the ads. Even if she should be lucky enough to find a job, she told herself bitterly, she'd be fired the next day.

In the afternoon, Noel went up town. She had to have a pair of shoes to dance in. The sandals she had brought with her, along with the tulle evening dress, were practically gone. She had found the reason the girls always left their dance frocks and slippers in the lockers was to save all possible extra wear. They didn't last long at that

And now Noel had to have new sandals. She didn't want to open her locker some night and find a new pair had been put in there by Nick, which was quite likely to happen

So she went to the place Laurie had mentioned to her, where she could buy a pair for $2.98.

Once Noel had paid as much as $30 for a pair. Those days seemed very far away.

In the afternoon when she had bought the sandals, it was all Noel could do to resist the temptation of going to the De Luxe. But her pride won again. Julian had asked Laurie about her, but he hadn't expressed a desire to see her. It was true he had exacted a promise from her to keep in touch with him But he had probably forgotten all about that now, being so engrossed in his work—and the pretty nurse.

So Noel resisted the temptation to go to the restaurant. And afterward, when it was too late, she knew it had been a mistake to let her stubborn pride keep her away. The truth was, she might as well admit it to herself, it wasn't altogether her pride. There was another reason. She had been afraid she would see Julian and Ruth Chester together, talking and laughing gaily, happy and quite oblivious of the fact that she, Noel was even in the same world. She couldn't bear that again.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1938.

Lull in hand-shaking is probably due to defeated primary candidates returning to normal.

A new "bantam" car is now announced to sell for $399—and the slogan may soon be "Every child should have one."

It will be interesting, to say the least, under socialized medicine, to have a flock of PWA workers assigned to appendicitis projects.

Make Sure You Are Properly Registered.

BIGGEST surprise of last Tuesday's special election was the revelation of the considerable number of ardent supporters of the school bond issue who had failed to register—and, therefore, couldn't vote.

In spite of all that has been said on the subject, there are apparently a number of persons who do not understand that if they move from one precinct to another they must transfer their registration, and that if they fail to vote at two preceding general elections they must re-register.

Newcomers to the city, and young men and women as they reach voting age, are also required to register in order to qualify for voting.

Starting Friday of this week, registrations and transfers can be cared for at the board of elections office, basement of court house, and it is suggested that all Mansfield residents of voting age who are not registered, or whose registration has not been transferred to the precinct in which they are now living, look after this matter at the earliest possible time.

Nature Usually Serves Warning.

EXCEPT from accidental causes, death seldom comes to a person without having given some warning of approach.

This is especially true in youth and middle age, when any impairment of bodily functions are readily detectable by a physician and remedial agencies are available.

Even the heart, to which so many sudden deaths are attributed, is a sturdy organ which does not abruptly go wrong without cause, nor do the lungs, kidneys, liver or brain pass from a condition of health to one of disease without flashing warning signals which physicians recognize and can, in many instances, correct.

The human body, as a whole, is a wonderful assembly of essential parts and will, for a time, withstand considerable neglect and abuse, but there is also assurance that Nature will finally rebel against this neglect and abuse and will serve warning, through pain and disease, that death will be the penalty unless corrective steps are taken.

Year after year there has been an increasing number of persons, particularly after reaching the age of forty, who have adopted the practice of regularly going to their family physician for an examination, at least once a year, in order to keep a check-up on their general health and to detect any incipient ailment that might be developing.

Those who value health, and who are interested in the possibility of extending their life span by even a few years, serve themselves and their loved ones poorly by neglecting to observe the warning signals that Nature is accustomed to give before closing the account.

Can't Live On $10,000 a Year!

WHETHER James Roosevelt, son of the President, "earned" from $21,000 to $49,000 a year in insurance commissions from 1933 to 1937, inclusive, or profited to a much higher total during those years, is not material.

To the Alva Johnston article in the Saturday Evening Post several weeks ago, James Roosevelt counters in the current Colliers with an excellent article written by Walter Davenport, in which the President's son makes a strong case for himself in denial of having profited to the extent of several million dollars in insurance commissions during that five-year period.

He produces income tax records to show that as a total for the five years his commissions amounted to ONLY $172,978!

That such a total, for the five-year period between the ages of 25 and 30, was at all unusual does not seem to have occurred to the youthful Roosevelt—although this, in itself, exceeds the average life-time earnings of most college graduates.

Most amazing—and illuminating—of the revelations in the Colliers article is the naive statement by son James that he hesitated about taking the job as secretary to the President BECAUSE HE FELT THAT HE COULD NOT KEEP HIS FAMILY ON THE SALARY OF $10,000 A YEAR!

As evidencing the vagaries of Roosevelt thinking it would be difficult to find a more revealing example than that a youth of 30—brought up under the Roosevelt influence—CANNOT PROVIDE FOR HIS FAMILY ON A SALARY OF $10,000 A YEAR.

What wonder that millions of dollars of taxpayers' money seem picayunish in such an environment and that billions of mounting national indebtedness are accepted as inconsequential!

What wonder that several million deluded people have become encouraged in the belief that more billions can be produced, by the Roosevelt magic, to pay fabulous pensions to everybody!

If one of the Roosevelt boys can't live on $10,000 a year why should anyone else have to!

Isn't this a land of equality? What's the answer?

Useful Diplomats.

SECRETARY OF STATE HULL does a good deed when he informs the public, through an article in the American Foreign Service Journal, that this service is not composed exclusively of spats and stuffed shirts. The occasion of his comment was the death of John J. O'Keefe, vice consul in charge of the consulate at Buena Ventura, Nicaragua, who succumbed to malignant malaria.

He calls attention to the arduous and ill-paid work done by hundreds of such men in all sorts of places, big and little, throughout the world. The personnel on the whole is excellent, morale is high, and the nation probably gets more value for its money in this ill-paid and under-manned service than in any other governmental department.

Eight years seems plenty long enough to go from bad to worse.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — This department gathers that the supreme court would like Mr. Roosevelt to appoint a member who knows western irrigation and mining law—and that calls for a western man.

And the western men most often mentioned hereabouts for the job are William Denman of San Francisco and Sam G. Bratton of Albuquerque, New Mexico, members respectively of the ninth and tenth circuit courts.

S. G. Bratton

Senator Norris of Nebraska, who himself could easily be called a westerner, already has recommended Felix Frankfurter, Harvard law professor.

Lacking on the supreme court bench just now is a specialist in irrigation and mining law as it is known in the west. Besides native sons, potatoes and cowpunchers, the west has contributed two complete branches of basic law, those dealing with water rights and metal mining.

Justice Van Devanter of Wyoming handled the bulk of such cases when he was on the court but he retired a year ago.

* * *

Water—Not Everywhere.

JUST NOW a really serious test of the whole basic law of irrigation rights is arising in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado. The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation has intervened in a suit involving allocation of waters of the North Platte among three states. In its supporting brief the government lays claim to certain water which heretofore the states have claimed as subject wholly to their own jurisdiction.

William Denman

While the west is young, it nevertheless has built up a law experience in mining and irrigation dating back nearly 100 years. That is older than most corporate law. Moreover, much mining and irrigation law is based on local practices whose origin could be as mysterious to a resident of a rain-watered state as the fourth dimension.

At present Justice Butler is "farthest west" members of the court, and he is from Minnesota. That may sound "far west" to a Broadway habitue but to the Rocky mountains and Pacific coast states Minnesota is about as far east as Rhode Island.

* * *

There's No Hurry.

BOTH Justices Bratton and Denman were suggested for the high court at the time of the Black and Reed appointments. At one time Denman was much credited with originating the plan for enlarging the supreme court.

Of late, however, friends have insisted that he proposed only that part having to do with increasing membership on the district and circuit courts. Whatever the truth or purpose of the stories, the later version might conceivably reduce senate opposition arising against anyone connected with the court-enlargement idea.

New Dealers point out that in any event the president is under no compulsion to hurry an appointment, and may save it until after election time.

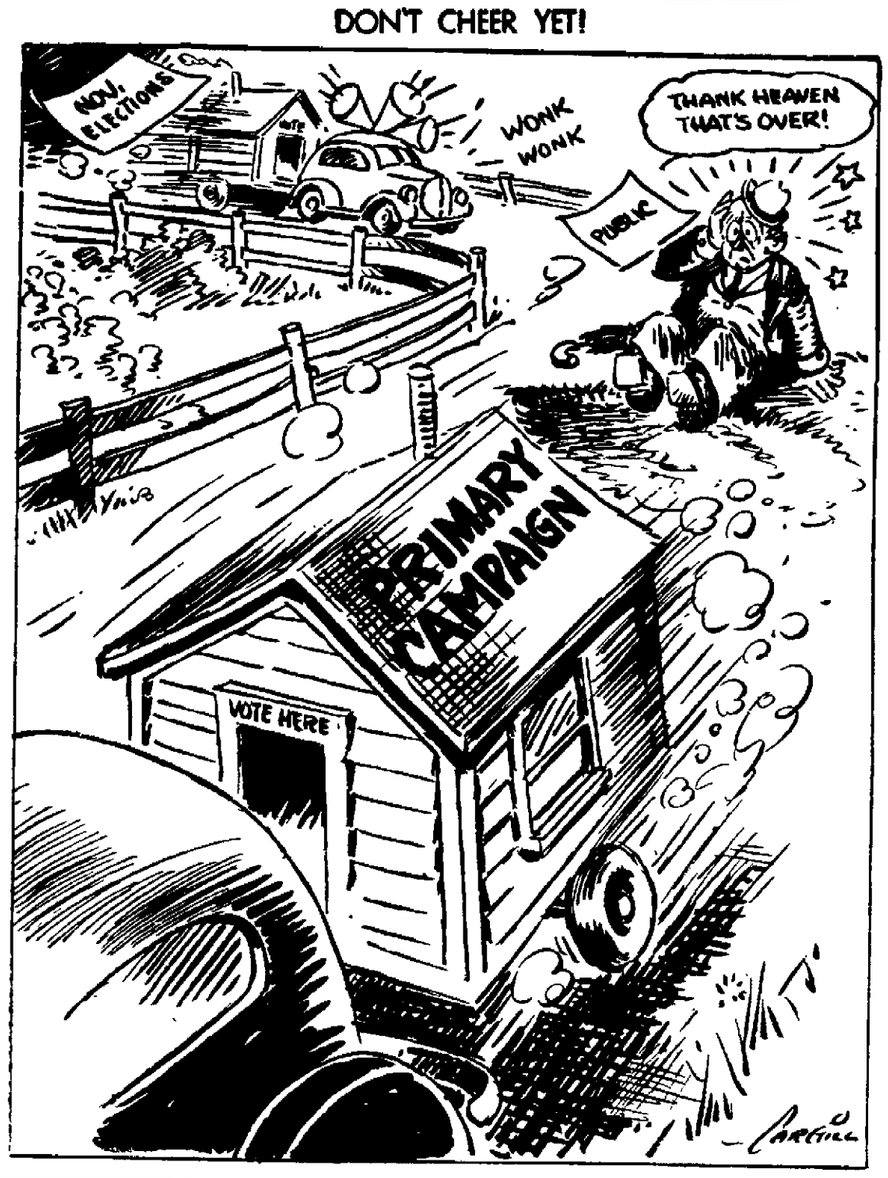
DON'T CHEER YET!



Primary Charges Become Bitter

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Election irregularities are an old story.

They date back to the days when all nominations were made in party conventions, usually preceded by secret conferences of a few bosses in the well-known "smoke-filled rooms."

The nominations doubtless were framed in advance, but that was supposed to be all right. It was not considered strictly according to Hoyle for a candidate to overspend himself against his election day opponent. It occasionally caused him trouble to be caught at it, anyway. But the regularity of his nomination never was disputed.

* * *

TWO QUESTIONS—

These times two questions arise. It still is asked, "Was the election o. k.? Back of that, however, is the query, "Was the winning party candidate fairly nominated?"

There are two elections, in short, and recent charges and counter-charges hint that the first one (the primary) is liable to be characterized by as much queer business as the second one, in November. Maybe more. Rival party candidates watch one another's campaigns pretty closely. If one of them suspects any crookedness in his opponent's methods he is not a bit hesitant to say so vehemently. In an intra-party primary the tendency is to hush scandals up, in the interest of party harmony.

* * *

PRIMARY WORSE

That is to say, an election day candidate is forced to be reasonably discreet, because he knows that, if he wins and the loser believes he can make out a good case, the latter's disposition will be to contest the former's victory.

In a primary contest, on the opposite hand, the winner is tolerably certain that the loser, even if badly disgruntled, will go through the form of congratulating him—will keep quiet, at least. He may not feel like it, but all his friends will say, "Now, don't split the party wide open." And probably, if the primary winner's side wins the election also, the primary loser gets some sort of an appointment for being good, which consoles him quite a lot.

True, this year's Democratic primaries are being extraordinarily bitter. Po[illegible] there will be some primary af[illegible]aths.

Yet we have "Happy" Chandler congratulating the primary candidate who licked him. And "Happy" complained of having been poisoned during that primary campaign, presumably by his political foes If poisoning (supposing any such thing) isn't ground for contesting a primary nomination on, what would be? Still, if it was done, it was all in the Democratic family—so let it pass!

* * *

CLOSER SUPERVISION

What I mean to say is:

If a Democratic candidate poisoned his Republican rival and won, by virtue of the dose, the Republican surely would contest the Democrat's election, because that would be an inter-party matter.

But for a Democrat to poison a Democrat or a Republican to poison a Republican is intra-party, which is altogether different.

All the same, a situation arises which calls for rather closer supervision of primaries than heretofore. It always was recognized that elections need supervision. Primaries have been rather neglected. Senator Morris Sheppard's investigating committee is giving them a bit of attention. It is not wasted.

* * *

A DISGUSTED SENATOR

Speaking of primaries:

In their comparatively early days we had in Washington a Maine senator named Arthur Gould.

Near the end of his term he announced that he was not a candidate for renomination. I was surprised, having supposed his renomination and re-election to be assured. Dropping into his office, I asked, "Senator, why shan't you run again?"

"Well," said the Maine statesman. ""I'm sick of the senate. All it does it to talk and talk and talk. If ever I come back to congress it will be as a representative. That house has some organization. It chokes off the windbags and transacts business."

Timely Editorial

Weed Them Out!

One congressional investigation which has the enthusiastic support and approval of millions is that which is seeking to bring out into broad daylight the subversive tactics of the Nazis in the United States.

Enough has been found already to show that there are a lot of activities going on which call for vigorous and determined measures to bring them to a halt. The disciples of dictators have enjoyed entirely too much freedom in fostering their un-American doctrines

No effort should be spared in bringing to light the methods and the leaders in these destructive tactics. And, if it is found that existing laws are not stringent enough to cope with the situation, steps should be taken speedily to make them so.

There are but few democracies left in the world, owing to the spreading blight of dictatorship. Severe quarantine measures are required to keep the disease from becoming epidemic in this country.—Ohio State Journal.

Health Advice

Helping Sight of Middle-Aged.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

UNDER the slogan "Sight Begins at Forty," the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness wages its campaign of education for better eye health.

Sight, of course, in many instances begins to get dim at 40, but the society's purpose is to cheer up those who regard this as inevitable, and to spread the idea that if properly cared for middle-aged eyes may be as efficient as they were in youth.

This is worth while, because many people enter the period of middle life with a feeling of profound discouragement. They are acutely conscious that they can no longer do the things they once did easily and tirelessly. And since their activities are cut down, they have to depend more on their eyes. Here they find that time has played them tricks, too. The eyes tire sooner than they did and the vision is not so automatically clear. There may be superimposed on the general discouragement, the fear of going blind.

This is not justified, because with proper care the discomforts and chronic infections of the middle-aged eye can be mitigated and degenerative changes postponed indefinitely.

Glasses Correct "Old Sight."

The almost inevitable change—presbyopia or "old sight"—can be corrected with glasses, and while these are a nuisance, they are better than nothing. At least better than trying any of the new crop of lotions, drops, tonics or reading lamps which come out each year and are offered to the middle-aged as substitutes for glasses.

The youth does not need glasses because his lens is as clear as crystal and as elastic as live rubber. He can see far and near equally well (unless, of course, he has an ocular defect). As we get past 40, the lens remains transparent but it loses its elasticity. We see perfectly at a distance but the near point recedes steadily. The lens will not accommodate, but glasses will do it for us.

Do not get glasses stronger than you need, so as to get dependent on them too soon. It is better to leave some of the focusing of the eyes to themselves.

Cataract is the condition in which the lens does become less transparent. Opacities gradually form. Sometimes the beginning of a cataract will be announced by the fact that the vision suddenly improves. Your aunt lays away her glasses and is very proud of her "second sight." This arouses suspicion in the mind of the good oculist.

The cause is that in the very beginning of a cataract the lens is still transparent, but it swells and makes the eye near-sighted. Once the second sight.

Usually the opacity of cataract begins around the edge of the lens and causes no great disturbance of vision for years and years. The average period is 15 years between the time symptoms begin and a cataract is ripe enough for operation.

A Farmer's Diary

First Impression.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY WIFE'S first cousin from Seattle came to visit. I had never met the man, but during the twelve years of our married life, I had formed an estimate, pieced together from casual bits of conversation, I knew that he had a fine physique; that he had won various professional distinctions; that his sense of humor was acute, though well-controlled.

The other day when I returned from a walk through the meadow after a rain, I heard the sound of a stalled motor, and saw an automobile stuck in the mud along the lane, half way to our house. When I reached the edge of the lawn I found that Nan, the children's goat, had broken her tether. She was rambling in the direction of my wife's gladiola bed, where she had wreaked havoc once before. I pursued and caught her. She braced her stubborn feet, but I dragged her bodily toward the stake in front of the barn. Little Son, in an effort to help, took a stick and beat a tattoo across her rear, at the same time informing me, "Company's come. Somebody 'por-ant, maybe. Mother's been call-ing you."

I tied Nan to the stake and went to the house, where on the porch a group of smiling watchers stood. I was perspiring and out of breath. With a start, I recognized the visitor when my wife introduced as the man on whom I had hoped to make a good impression.

We got his car out of the mud, and he drove it up in front of the barn. He opened the door and allowed a Chow pup to climb out. The pup glimpsed the goat. There was a dash of golden brown fur, and such a scream from Nan as you never heard. The dog grabbed hold of her rump and hung on till we dragged the two apart. It made a lively little act. The visitor's face was red. Our wives, upon the porch, were greatly entertained.

To discipline his dog, the newcomer took a switch and held the Chow by the collar, quite near the shrinking Nan. "No, No!" he shouted when the dog lunged forward, and whacked the animal with the switch. The lesson learned, the Chow was no longer interested in goats. We had a good laugh, and the ice was broken. It was a pleasant visit. He isn't a man who needs to be impressed. He's regular. I feel as though I'd known him all my life.

Listen, World!

Why Are Some Married Women Such Poor Sports?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

(What is the trend of thought in America today? What are the problems that beset your neighbors, from rural crossroads to sophisticated metropolis? Elsie Robinson throws open her columns as a clearing house for letters from all America to all America, giving you an opportunity to see your world and yourself through the Other Fellow's eyes.)

* * *

FIRST, top of the pile, comes Hexie Costleburry of Mar Vista, Calif. Young and lively is Hexie—and full of embarrassing questions. So, in case the shoe pinches, don't say I didn't warn you!

Dear Elsie—

Why are some married women such poor sports? Yes, I know I'm starting something; but even if I am a woman myself, I think it's time that someone exposed our racket. For example, this Big Martyr Act of ours, about how we suffer and suffer as Wives and Mothers.

I freely admit that home-making and child-rearing are big jobs . . . hard jobs. But they are also interesting jobs . . . worthwhile . . . and priceless privileges! It's a downright lie to claim that a housekeeper is "practically a slave" or that "woman's work is never done." That might have been true once but it needn't be true of any woman with a spark of spunk today.

No woman on earth has as much freedom and independence as the modern wife and mother. She has no boss. She can make her own schedule of time and work. If she has a system—and she's a fool if she hasn't—she can have time off for recreation without neglecting her children or home.

Then why should she complain to her husband about how tired she is, and how the children have worried her all day, and how she is working her fingers to the bone, and giving the best part of her life to him in exchange for a life of drudgery?

When a man works all day, he deserves rest and pleasant companionship when he goes home at night. He hasn't had a chance for an afternoon nap or a ride with friends or a game of bridge. The average man is on the job all day, catering to an exacting boss. He can't lie down on his job. And then the poor devil probably goes home to a whining wife who unloads her woes on his tired shoulders.

Oh, yes, sisters, I have heard all that old stuff about the advantages a man has when he goes out to work . . . how he mixes with new people . . . and enjoys new, exciting experiences every day . . . while the poor woman stays at home doing monotonous work and never having a chance to make interesting contacts with new people. You could make an interesting thing of your life, too, if you were not lazy, and if you had an imagination.

I KNOW MAN LIFE AND I KNOW WOMAN LIFE, AND I'M TELLING YOU, LADIES, THAT YOU CAN HAVE AS INTERESTING A LIFE AS ANY MAN IF YOU HAVE ANY WILL-POWER AND IMAGINATION DON'T GIVE WAY TO YOUR LAZINESS AND PITY!

The truth is—most of you "wrecks" enjoy being martyrs. You would rather cry over yourselves than get busy and make yourselves and your families happy.

I am for the woman who is a good sport about her job, who treats it as a great profession, who realizes how important it is in the scheme of things. But to the naggers, whiners and shirkers, I say NUTS TO YOU!

Man About Manhattan

Looks Over New Orleans

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW ORLEANS—This is New Orleans, city of a thousand passing gallantries, a city that has existed under ten flags, rich in rosaries and rum.

This is Bienville's New Orleans, known then as La Nouvelle Orleans, named so in honor of the Regent of France, who was Philippe, Duc d'Orleans.

This is Don Antonio de Ulloa's New Orleans, and Pierre Laussata's, and Napoleon's. It is Jean LaFitte's New Orleans, and Andrew Jackson's, and Beauregard's. It is Judah P. Benjamin's, too.

"Fabulous New Orleans" Lyle Saxon has called it, and it is that. It is all of that. Fabulous city of pirates and nuns, of witchcraft and voodoo, of Frenchman, Spaniard, German, African, and Choctaw. Dancing masters from Versailles and grandees from Madrid. City of churches and dwelling masters, of crayfish and magnolia. City of freeman and slave, of black-robed priests and the Inquisition, of carpetbaggers, Cajuans and cooking.

* * *

CITY of Jazz . . . The first jazz band in the United States originated here . . . Louis Prima was born here . . . Louis Armstrong was born here . . . City of blues, Canal Street Blues, Basin Street Blues, Butler's Blue uniformed soldiers.

City of Mardi Gras, of the Twelfth Night, City of Comus and Rex . . . Of cotton and cane and bananas . . . Lafcaido Hearn lived here . . . Jefferson Davis died here . . . City of patios and cape pessamine, of sycamores and pomgranates, the Crescent city, the "city that care forgot" . . . City of the Mississippi, of the "Big Muddy," city of red beans, rice, law and Huey Long.

City of the pelican and the kingfish, city of Pontchartrain and molasses, of chicken and cornbread, of mammy dolls and pecans, of lagniappe and Oysters Rockefeller.

* * *

CITY of coffee, city of the little brown berry, of 'possum and muscadine, of Spanish moss and honeysuckle . . . City of tradition and antiquity, of moonlit gardens and cathedrals . . . City of the Cabildo, of the wrack and thumbscrew, city of ghosts and haunted houses, or river packets and Mississippi paddle-wheels . . . City of catfish and grits.

City of Count Alexander O'Reilly, of Claiborne, and James Pitot. . . . And of French opera, where streets are named for royalty (Bourbon, Royal, Dauphine), where streets are named for saints (St. Ann, St. Peter, St. Louis), where streets are named from Greek mythology (Erato, Melpomene, Terpsichore) and for generals (Pershing, Jackson, Lee).

Philippe, we are here. Saxon, we are here. Let the gumbo be good, and the pompono and the Planter's punch. And if they are, and I think they are going to be, willingly will I sing with Stevenson, "Under the wide and starry sky, dig the grave and let me die. . . . Home is the sailor from the sea, and the hunter home from the hill."

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Your Spoken Words.

You go and yet your words
Keep coming back to me;
I save them, hug them close,
They shall my comfort be.

Your letters will be dear,
And eagerly each word
Scanned on the page, but these,
Swift as a winging bird,

Fly upward. Words you spoke
Yourself to me, these will
Remain warm in my heart,
Its dreams and hopes fulfill.

OK'S READINGS OF GAS RATES ONCE REJECTED

Shelby Council Approves 69-Cent Proposal for Three Years by 4-1 Vote.

SHELBY—Shelby council, which last spring turned down a gas rate contract under which the 5,000-foot consumer would pay slightly more than 69 cents a thousand, approved a similar ordinance on its first two readings last night.

The vote was 4-1, wth Councilman Charles Swanger, who has fought consistently for lower rates, casting the lone dissenting vote.

When the same proposal was offered at the outset of negotiations in the spring, it was rejected, 3-2.

Since that time, a number of propasals have been made, but none succeeded in passing

After the new ordinance passed 4-1 on a second reading, a third reading was prevented when Councilmen Swanger and John Chew objected to final passage of a rate ordinance "without giving the public a chance to know what the rates are."

Rate Provisions.

The ordinance, proposed for passage by Councilman Chester Bell, sets up the following schedule, for a three-year period.

$1 00 for the first 500 cubic feet

5.5 cents per hundred for the next 9,500 feet.

5 cents per hundred for all over 10,000

At present, Shelby is now paying 71 cents per thousand, on the basis of 5,000 cubic feet per month, under the fifth year or "sandbag" term of a five-year ordinance, which has expired

The proposed ordinance, expected to come up for final approval or rejection at the September meeting, sets up a straight rate for three years.

NEEDS MORE MEN

Engineer Charges WPA Fails to Provide Workers.

Although he claims Sixth district WPA officials promised to put 200 addutonal men to work on Richland county road projects during the first four days of this week, only 17 have been added to the county work relief rolls, County Engineer Howard C. Sword charged today

"The 17 men reported for work after 25 had been notified," Sword said "We now have about 200 on road and bridge jobs, while we could easily use 400 or 500"

He was unable to account for the delay in starting more men on WPA jobs under the county's $1,000,000 blanket project which was to have provided jobs during the summer for nearly 1,000 men

District WPA officials had previously said the state's quota had been reached.

STREET JOB UP

Council to Get Legislation on Forest Avenue Job.

City council at its next meeting will have before it for consideration legislation calling for improvement of Forest avenue from Marion avenue to Bartley avenue

The measure calls for the grading and paving of the street along with the construction of combination curbs and gutters and the necessary storm drainage

It authorizes the issuance of $11,000 in bonds in the anticipation of the collection of assessments as the property owners' share. The city's share of $1.200 is to be paid from the automobile registration fee fund

NEARLY TIME TO RENEW LICENSES

Driving Permits to Be Issued in About Two Weeks.

In a little more than two weeks Ohio drivers' licenses will go on sale in communities throughout the state, according to Frank Beverstock, Mansfield deputy registrar.

While no information has been received from the state department as to when the blanks will arrive here, Beverstock said that the law specifies licenses must go on sale 30 days before the expiration of the old licenses, and all 1937-38 licenses expire Oct. 1.

The Mansfield office issued 19,731 drivers' licenses during the past year. Sept. 1 is the date specified for opening the license sale, but for the past two years the opening nas been delayed several days because the blanks were not ready.

Bank Robbers' Companions?

Federal agents in the midwest have spread a wide net for two southwestern bank robbers, believed to be Floyd Hamilton, a surviving member of the Hamilton gang, and "Huron Ted" Walters, who escaped a police net at Summit, Ill. The search was launched following the arrest of two Shreveport, La., girls, Neal Hearn, 20, left, and Lorraine Wilson, 20, believed to have been companions of the southwest desperadoes.

THREATENS SUIT AGAINST FAIR

Brunk Notifies Shelby Council of Plans Through Attorney After Ignoring Protest.

SHELBY—Court action against the staging of the Shelby Community Street fair on Main street was threatened today after a letter demanding that the exposition be kept off the main thoroughfare was ignored by city council last night.

The letter which was presented to council by Law Director Theodore Lutz was from Atty. George Biddle of Mansfield, representing Ernest Brunk, filling station operator on Main street, who has led a fight to have the site of the fair moved because he said it interfered with his business.

Unless council repeals the ordinance to vacate Main street for four days in September for use of the fair, an injunction suit will be filed in common pleas court to prevent use of the street for fair purposes the letter threatened.

Law Director Lutz was authorized by council to notify Mr. Brunk's attorney that council would not reconsider the ordinance. Last year Brunk had also threatened the council with an injunction if the street was closed, but no action developed

Motorist Nearly Hits Patrol Car, Officers Charge

When C S Lemley, 20½ South Park street, drove his auto through a stop sign at South Adams and East Second street yesterday he ran right into the arms of the state highway patrol—so the patrol said.

Patrolmen L. D. Alexander and C. B. Tieben, manning a patrol car east on Second street, arrested Lemley, after he shot his car through the intersection and narrowly avoided colliding with the cruiser, they said.

The patrolmen said the driver failed to halt at their signal and that they chased him two blocks before catching him

Friday he will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

LEWIS 'BLESSED' BY ROOSEVELT

Pat for Maryland Lawmaker Seen as Move to Help Beat Senator Tydings.

tor Harrison of Mississippi and Congressman Doughton of North Carolina, who carried the, bill successfully through the senate and the house of representatives.

"They deserve and have the gratitude of all of us for this service to mankind!"

Mention of the quartet occasioned widespread surprise because White House aids had said during the week-end that Mr. Roosevelt would not name names in the brief address. Inclusion of Harrison aroused especial interest among politicians here for he led a fight against administration tax provisions last spring

Senator Wagner, who like Lewis is a staunch Roosevelt supporter, reaches the end of his term this year. It has been assumed he will seek renomination unless he is drafted to run for governor of New York

There was immediate speculation as to whether Mr. Roosevelt would extend further help to Lewis before the September primary in Maryland.

Some administration advisers are as eager for him to go into Maryland and attack Tydings as directly as he did Sen. Walter F. George in Georgia

Lewis quickly followed up the president's address with a radio speech of his own to Maryland voters. He criticized Tydings, whom Mr. Roosevelt had not mentioned, for merely voting "present" when the senate passed the social security act. In fact, he added, Tydings had voted against 22 "vital" administration measures."

Senator Tydings did not refer to the president's speech when he appeared later in the evening at a Democratic rally in Hagerstown, Md., but he predicted the 1939 congress would make substantial revisions in the social security act

(It was the third anniversary of that law which occasioned the president's address)

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope the next congress would extend and improve the program, now limited to old age pensions and unemployment insurance. He mentioned as possibilities the provision of medical services, liberalization of the old age insurance, and inclusion of additional groups of citizens in the program.

CONSIDERS NEW SHELBY PROJECT

Council Studies Recommendation for $100,000 Sanitation Improvement Program.

SHELBY—Under consideration by city officials today was an improvement program for the municipal sanitation plant calling for an expenditure of about $100,000 is a PWA project.

If approved, the federal government would pay $45,000 of the cost, while the city, as sponsor, would provide 55,000. The city's share would be raised from bonds which would be issued from the unused balance of a $150,000 bond issue which passed for improvement of the plant in 1929.

No action was taken by the council last night on the project which had been recommended by Floyd Brown of Marion, city sanitary engineer, who said that the plant as operated at present would be inadequate within two years.

Other business approved by the council were ordinances to proceed with street improvements on Madison avenue and Maxwell drive and a sanitary sewer on East Main street. Bonds were issued for $55,000 for the bond issue approved by the voters for the municipal water company improvement and $7,000 in anticipation of the collection of taxes for the property owners' share of the Mohican street improvement.

OK'S CUT FOR O.S.R. RENTALS

City Agrees to 50 Per Cent Reduction in Sewer Charge at Columbus Parley.

City officials today had agreed to a 50 per cent cut in the original figure set up on a sewer rental charge for the Mansfield reformatory as provided by the new city ordinance.

Meeting with the state budget commission in Columbus yesterday, Mayor Claude M. Hunter, accompanied by city engineers and Councilman C. N. Shultz chairman of council's water committee, agreed to a rate of $4,000 annually instead of the $8,000 figure accepted by the state welfare board four months ago.

Hunter said the city had made the concession when the budget commission had balked on the terms of the proposal based on the quantity of water used by the institution

The new orcposal, for a one year term, will replace a former contract, entered into in 1928.

It is used annually to center the table of the Kansas Mayflower society dinner. She also made a model of the old Constitution, and will probably try her hand next at the Queen Mary.

Hand-painted lace lingerie is sufficiently "different" to be alluring. The importer declares that these lace garments, which are made of the Alencon type lace, painted by hand, will wash and have been rigorously tested to prove the point.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Aug. 17.

A VERY lively and probably eventful day may be expected in writings, publishing and professional life. Advancement or some mark of distinction may be conferred by influential persons who may be attractetd by originality, stability, unusual skill or hard work.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid progress and achievement, perhaps in some outstanding professional scientific or creative calling that will arrest the attention of those of prestige and ability. It is a propitious time to seek capital for such projects, wherein industry, originality and outstanding merit are convincing.

A child born on this day may have much versatility, originality and sound merit, attracting the solid support of those who may assist it to a place of importance in education or letters. It should be gracious and tactful.

Summer squashes will keep on bearing until frost if the squashes are harvested as soon as they are ready. If they are not kept picked, however, production will soon cease. It is a good plan to place short pieces of boards under the muskmelons or watermelons or else to stand the melons on end. The purpose is to keep wire worms from working their way into the fruit. Ripening will be more uniform, too, if this plan is followed. Many persons are puzzled to tell when muskmelons are ripe. The fragrance is a pretty good guide, but as a rule the fruit begins to crack around the stems, and parts easily from the plants when the time for harvesting has arrived.

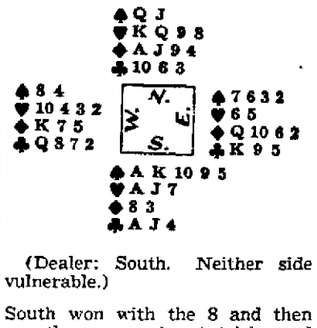
"The Authority on Authorities"

EACH KEEP ONE SUIT

When a no trump slam declarer sets out to run two solid suits, the defense usually faces a discarding problem. It must protect the other two suits. Seldom can one defender guard them both. But if one signals high on his first discard, he tells his partner he will accept responsibility for that suit. The partner then can blithely toss away that suit while covering the fourth suit.

Against South's contract of 6-No Trumps, West led the heart 2.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South won with the 8 and then ran three more heart tricks and followed with five spade leads.

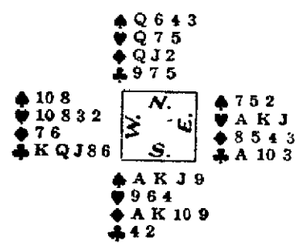
On the seventh trick both East and West made mistakes in their discards, West tossing the club 2 and East the diamond 2. On the eighth trick, West gave up the diamond 5 and East the club 5. When it came to the ninth trick each began to feel the squeeze, and their decision was the giving up of a club by each. The result was that West retained the diamonds K-7 and clubs Q-8; East diamonds Q-10-6 and club K, dummy held diamonds A-J and clubs 10-6 and declarer had the diamond 8 and clubs A-J-4. Having watched the discards, South led a low club, which East won. He returned a diamond, which was won with the A and a club to the A and J took the last two tricks.

Proper discarding by the opponents would have set declarer one trick.

Label your jars and bottles with adhesive tape and write on the tape with red ink what the jars contain. The tape sticks to the jars and is not as likely to loosen as will the paper labels.

When preparing shrimp for salad, put them in a bowl of water to which a tablespoon of vinegar has been added; drop in a lump of ice and let stand in the refrigerator for several hours before putting the salad together. You will find them greatly improved.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

With the club K led against South's 3-Spades contract, how should East defend the hand?

Love Wins In Marriage Of This Pair

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

With one marriage in every six going on the rocks, it's a comfort to come across a solitary straw blowing in the direction of married happiness.

Such a straw appeared in the morning mail and helped to balance a rumor that a state once specializing in Blue laws is now clamoring to get into the divorce trade in competition with Nevada, Mexico and other places which, for a consideration, wink the eye at marital disunion.

The letter is from a young wife, who tells how she and her husband, "desperately in love," took the risk of marrying on $15.50 a week and made a go of it. But no professional writer could make the story of that marriage as interesting as the girl who tells it. Here's her letter:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"The other day I read one of the letters which you received from a boy of 22, telling that his marriage had gone on the rocks. In your reply you said it was doubtful if the average young man of 22 was old enough to assume the responsibilities of marriage.

"But there are men of 22 who are responsible, and I want to tell you about one of them. I met my husband in my senior year at high school. He was in my class, but was a year older as he had been ill for a year. We were graduated in June of 1935 and were married soon after. As you see we've been married three years. I was 18 at the time and my husband was 19, and neither of us has ever regretted it.

"We've had plenty of tough sledding, but our real true love won out. When we were married, my husband made only $15.50 a week and out of that we had a furnished room, nice food and enough clothes.

"My husband is smart and a hard worker, and we are looking forward to many more years together, and hope to have children—three of them if we can afford it.

"Of course, we couldn't go out to dances, or have a car, but we do have a radio and we manage to go to the movies once a week, and we love to take nice long walks.

"We have our own religion which helps us always—never has our faith failed us. We are as popular as we were in high school, and are envied by our friends because we are so happy, and in love.

"Marriage, we think, is a 50-50 affair. One can't expect it to work out on a 30-70 basis, and we believe in talking things out without getting angry. And we love good music, which we listen to on our radio. We love to dance, and when we're not invited, we roll back the rug in our room and try out the new steps. Our room is larger now than when we married, and has four windows, and we're getting our own furniture bit by bit.

"Many young people could be as happy today as we are, if they had the courage to take the step and learn how to do without, and not envy those who have more. I know it is said to be impossible, but two people can live almost as cheaply as one, if they know how to economize. We don't have steaks and oysters, but you'd be surprised what a grand feast we can have on baked beans and frankfurters. Sometimes we have our in-laws over for a good Danish dinner with red cabbage.

"In conclusion let me say, more power to young love, may it always win. VI."

In biscuit making the ingredients are measured carefully with standard measuring cups and spoons for best results. Too much flour causes the biscuits to be tough. Too much baking powder produces a bitter flavor and the tops of the biscuits may be covered with tiny brown spots.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I stopped short in my tracks as the piercing cry came from the nursery.

"That was Faith!" I said in terror. "Wait! I must see what's the matter."

Dicky was at my side by the time I reached the nursery door, and I realized that he was as anxious as I, although he had a plausible reason ready for the cry.

She's probably scared out of her last tooth by that sudden glaring light," he said, and when we had dashed into our baby daughter's sleeping room, we found her just being lifted into my mother-in-law's arms, where her piercing cries ceased as quickly as they had begun.

"May I ask what is the reason of this outlandish proceeding?" Mother Graham began. Then her manner changed, and her eyes sparkled with interest, while from her arms Faith smiled enchantingly at us.

Comprehends Reason.

"Oh! you're illuminating the farmhouse so that no one can get near it," she said. "Good idea. But that must mean your man got away."

"He did," Dicky said laconically. "And now that we know Faith is all right, Madge and I must get to a telephone and broadcast a description of that fellow. Captain —— asked me to telephone headquarters for him and tell them what to do. He's busy outside."

"Well! I don't need either of you except for two things," my mother-in-law said a bit tartly. "Margaret, pull down that window shade, and if you'd thought of it a few minutes ago, Faith would never have wakened. And Richard, shove that crib over against this wall, and set a screen between it and the window. Then she'll have no light in her eyes, the little dear!"

We hurried to obey her mandate, thankful that she had set us no lengthier task. But at the door her voice halted us again.

"Have you time to go into the room of Richard Second and Roderick and pull their shades down?" she asked.

No More Delay.

"Sorry, Mother," Dicky said firmly, "but we musn't take another minute. And you know as well as I do that Gabriel with a trumpet in one hand and a dazzling sun ray in the other couldn't wake those lads once they get to sleep. It would take an earthquake, at least."

"There's no need of your being sacreligious," his mother said reprovingly. "Get along with you! I'll manage."

We waited for no further permission, but rushed out of the room and down the hall again to my father's room which Dicky unlocked, and then locked again with us inside.

"While I get these numbers," he said, sitting down to the telephone, "tell me quickly every detail you can remember of that man's appearance."

Has All Details.

I did not need to consider for the fraction of a second. Every detail of the maurauder's appearance seemed branded on my brain, and I began to talk swiftly but clearly in a description that I knew omitted nothing which trackers of the man would need.

I stopped only while Dicky gave the number to the operator, and, owing to a slight delay in getting the call, was able to finish before he secured the first number he wanted. He grinned companionably at me as I spoke the last word.

"The famous old memory is still functioning, I see," he commented, and I flushed with pleasure as he went on.

"There's plenty of detail, and that ought to turn the trick," he said, and then swiftly turned back to the telephone as the answer came from the other end.

Relates Captain's Orders.

"Who is this?" he demanded. "Oh! yes, Sergeant Hawkins. This is Richard Graham and I'm telephoning from where Captain —— is tonight. He is too busy to come to the telephone himself, but here are the things he wants done. Got a pencil?"

"You're to see that a cordon is thrown around the island for a man whose description I'll give you in just a minute," he began. "Notify all local police and the New York police as well as your troopers. Stop all motor cars at once on roads between here and Quogue on the south and Riverhead on the north. Later have all cars leaving the island at any point, ferries or bridges, searched. Also go through any trains going from the island to New York, and the airports. This man must not get off the island Captain —— says. Federal orders"

Carries On Tradition.

Joan Bennett, who is currently appearing in "The Texans" at the Ohio, has the responsibility of carrying on the dramatic acting traditions of one of the "royal families" of the American theater. With her mother, the former Adrienne Morrison, out of the picture, her father, Richard Bennett, retired and her sister, Barbara, submerged in domesticity as the wife of Morton Downey, there are only Joan and Constance left on the screen, and the latter has turned to farcical comedy. Joan alone remains as the one dramatic player of the family. Although highly unsuited to her role as a vixen gun runner of the Reconstruction era, in her current picture, she does her best with it. She appears opposite Randolph Scott who is right at home as the pioneer patriot of Texas.

* * *

Stairways to Fame.

Andrea Leeds' ladder to screen success literally has been a stairway. Although considered a good bet for a long time, she never was given a real break until she played a role in "Stage Door." It was one of the major roles, but she made it one of the most talked-about roles, with her air of tragic defeat and mounting madness as she ascended the stairs to the roof of the theatrical boarding house. And in "Letter of Introduction," her latest picture, which is being shown at the Madison, she has one of her best scenes on a stairway in a burning theatrical rooming house. It is when she goes back to rescue her "letter of introduction" and meets George Murphy on the stairs. Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy and Adolphe Menjou are in the cast.

Movie Variety

If you seek variety on your movie fare, you will find it in the full length feature at the Majestic which takes you to the exotic land of the Moro sea gypsies of the Philippines. "Zamboanga" was filmed in the Zulu sea and depicts the customs and tribal ceremonials these wild tribes, while telling a leisurely love story. From the pleasant ramblings of a Cook's tour through the village streets, the picture suddenly swings into action as the pearl divers return to the village. The story has to do with the raid of one of the islands by another tribe, in which the young women are confiscated, and the retribution. Of course the boy-girl-villain theme predominates, with all native players. It is supplemented by "We're Going To Be Rich," with Victor McLaglen, Brian Donlevy and the English star, Gracie Fields.

* * *

Two Romances.

Two interesting romances will be shown at the Ritz Wednesday and Thursday, when "The Baroness and The Butler" and "I Met My Love Again" are offered. The first one is a fascinating story of a head butler who rises to power in pre-Nazi Austria, defeating his employer of noble birth. William Powell plays the suave butler who falls in love with a beautiful baroness. The picture marked the American debut of Annabella, French actress. Henry Stephenson has the role of the count whose political star declines as that of his butler rises. "I Met My Love Again" is a problem play with Joan Bennett, Henry Fonda, Louise Platt, Alan Baxter, Alan Marshall, Tim Holt and Dame May Whitty.

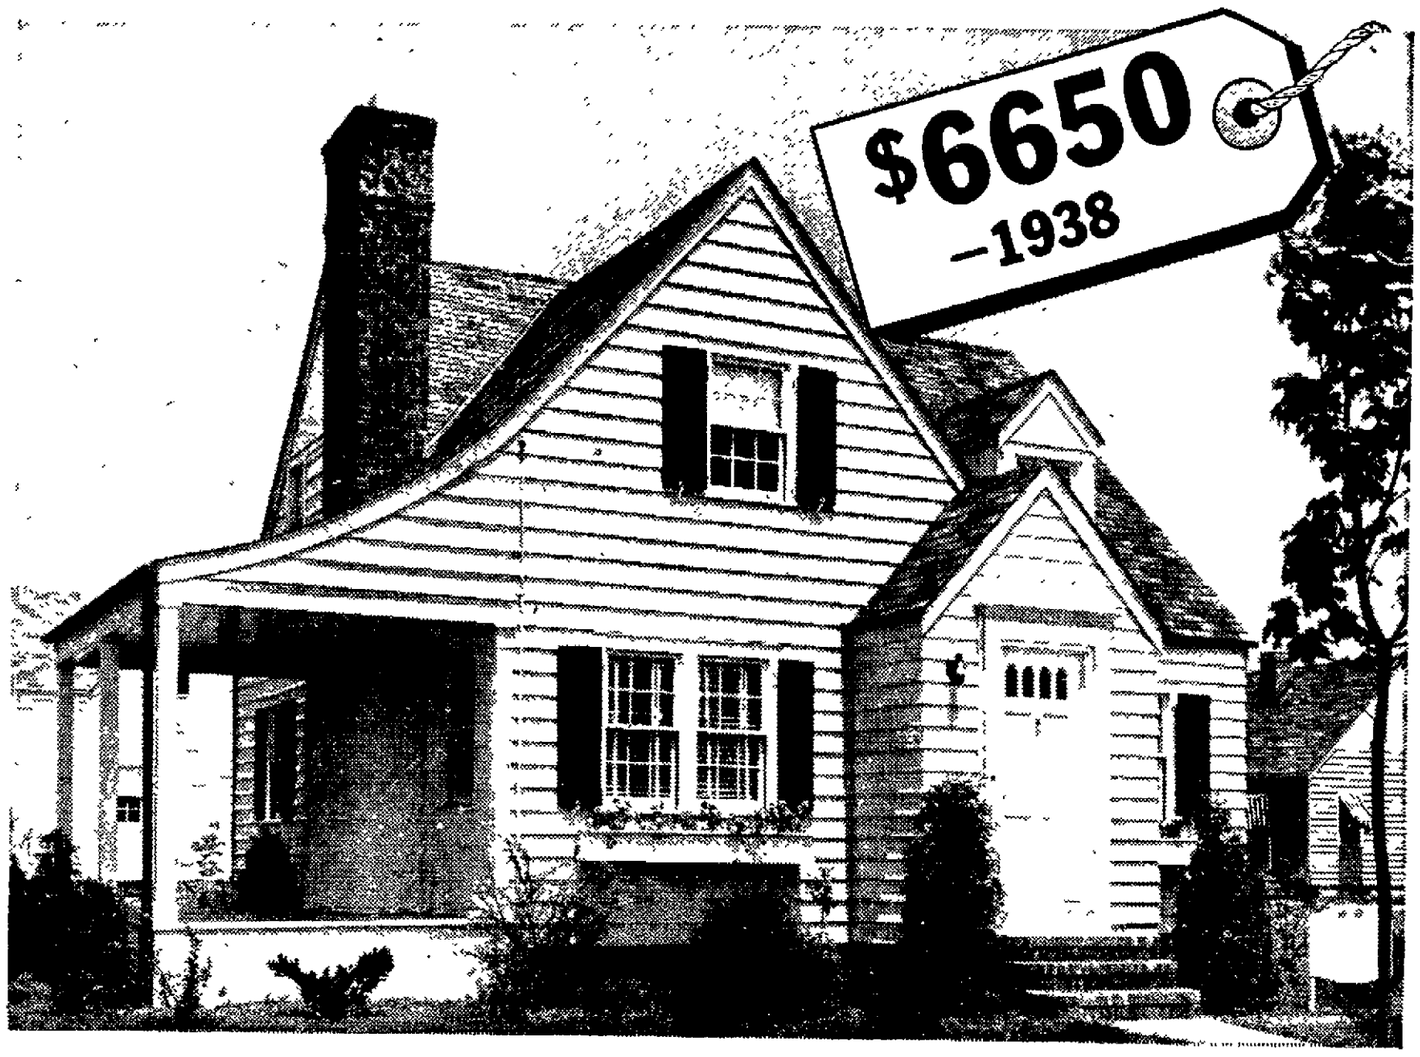
—AND YOU GET MORE HOME for your money TODAY, too!



—actually, in Today's Home you get 25% to 40% MORE REAL VALUE

These 16 "EXTRAS" for Better Living

A HOME is such an infrequent purchase—we so seldom investigate the "new models"—that we just don't follow the up-to-the-minute features, just don't keep track of the extra values. That being the case, you are probably not aware that today you can get MORE HOME for your money, too—from 25% to 40% more home, in fact, than at any time in history.

For example, there are many new, lower cost materials that can be applied more quickly—ready-made door frames, windows, kitchen and other cabinet assemblies, standard lumber, modern building products that come in planned units for speedy and labor-saving assembly. In short, your 1938 building dollar is a bigger dollar, it buys 25% to 40% more real value than at any time in history. Here's why this is true

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, with new and improved labor-saving devices, streamlined, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping, and better room arrangement that eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, as well as healthier atmospheric conditions; all now help to minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

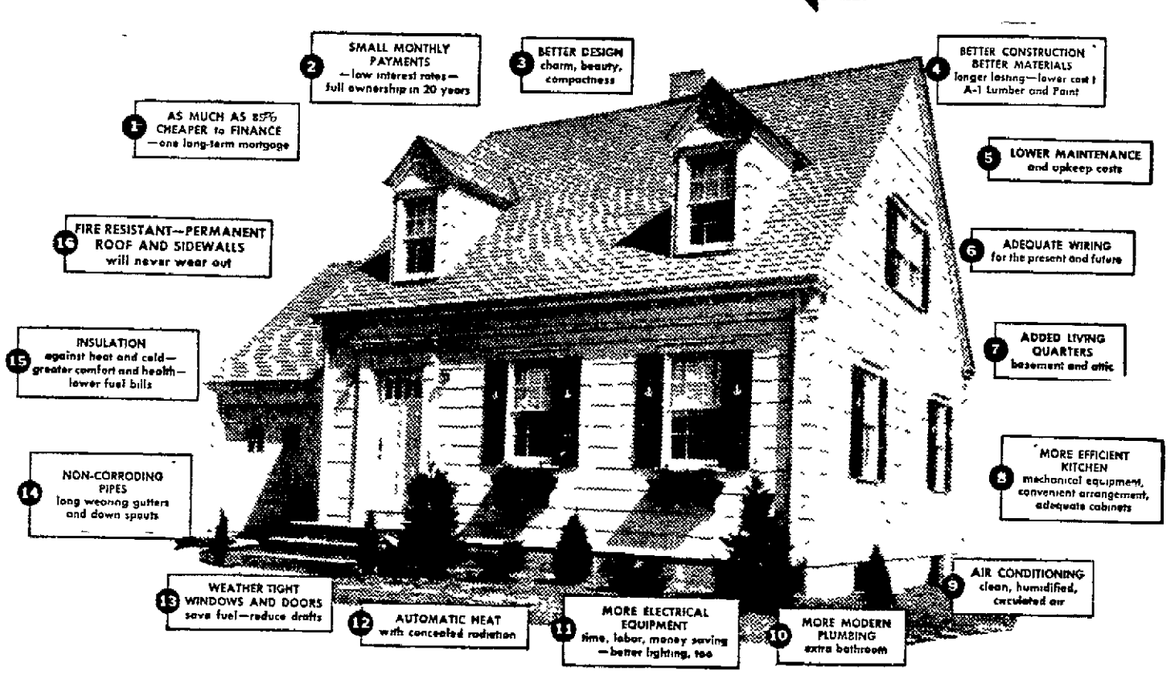
HERE'S WHY THE 1938 HOME IS A BARGAIN



1 AS MUCH AS 85% CHEAPER to FINANCE —one long-term mortgage
2 SMALL MONTHLY PAYMENTS —low interest rates— full ownership in 20 years
3 BETTER DESIGN charm, beauty, compactness
4 BETTER CONSTRUCTION BETTER MATERIALS longer lasting—lower cost A-1 lumber and Paint
5 LOWER MAINTENANCE and upkeep costs
6 ADEQUATE WIRING for the present and future
7 ADDED LIVING QUARTERS basement and attic
8 MORE EFFICIENT KITCHEN mechanical equipment, convenient arrangement, adequate cabinets
9 AIR CONDITIONING clean, humidified, circulated air
10 MORE MODERN PLUMBING extra bathroom
11 MORE ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT time, labor, money saving —better lighting, too
12 AUTOMATIC HEAT with concealed radiation
13 WEATHER TIGHT WINDOWS AND DOORS save fuel—reduce drafts
14 NON-CORRODING PIPES long wearing gutters and down spouts
15 INSULATION against heat and cold— greater comfort and health— lower fuel bills
16 FIRE RESISTANT—PERMANENT ROOF AND SIDEWALLS will never wear out
